Holds Scalds Killed 4 Prison Hunger Strikers

CORONER SAYS MEN HAD BEEN BADLY BEATEN

4 Probes Underway in Strange Deaths of Convicts Found in Philadelphia Cells.

WARDEN OFFERS COMMENT

Declares Hot Water, Steam Couldn't Have Been Used on Rebel Prisoners.

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA — Coroner Charles H. Hersch said today examination of the bodies of four hunger-striking prisoners found in cells at the Philadelphia county prison showed definitely that the men were scalded to death.

"There is no question but that these men met their death by scalding," he said. "Their hands were shriveled, indicating immersion in hot water or steam."

No Steam In Building.

Warden William B. Mills said he could not contradict the coroner but "can't see how that could have taken place."

"We certainly used no steam or hot water on the men," he said, "and there are no steam or hot water pipes in the building in which they were confined."

State Secretary of Welfare Charles I. Engard sent two special investigators to the institution at Holmesburg with orders to "get to the bottom" of the hunger strike which resulted in the four being placed in punishment cells where their bodies were found yesterday.

They were among more than 600 prisoners who had refused to eat in protest against a "monotonous" diet of hamburger and spaghetti.

Blames Hot Water.

Dr. Morton Crane, the coroner's physician, declared the men had died violently.

"I am of the opinion that scalding water somehow got into their cells," he said.

"There were also bruises and abrasions—and by abrasions I mean bruises where the skin is ripped off, and they still showed clots of blood. That would indicate clearly to me that they were beaten before being scalded to death."

ON AIR ITINERARY

City to Be Visited by 17-Plane Air Race Caravan Saturday.

Mansfield will be one of nine Ohio cities to be visited this weekend by a caravan of 17 planes, sponsored by the Cleveland Junior Association of Commerce, which seeks to arouse interest in the National Air Races in Cleveland next month.

The fliers, all private pilots, will carry greetings from Mayor Harold H. Burton to other Ohio communities. Mansfield will be visited Saturday afternoon.

The air caravan leaves Cleveland Friday morning, will have lunch in Toledo, stop in Lima in the afternoon and spend the night in Dayton. Saturday's schedule includes Springfield, mid-morning; lunch in Columbus; mid-afternoon in Mansfield, and Canton for the overnight stop. They'll visit Youngstown Sunday morning, Akron at noon and take part in the opening of the Akron air show, and return to Cleveland Sunday night.

MARCH TO POLLS

Mississippi Voters Select Six Congress Representatives.

JACKSON, Miss.—(AP)—Mississippi voters today selected six of the state's seven representatives in congress and candidates for various state offices in a Democratic primary. Nomination was tantamount to election.

National and New Deal issues were lacking and a light vote was expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lloyd

Contrary to public opinion, there are some long-life Hollywood marriages. A few of the most happily married screen stars are pictured above. Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Brown have been married 25 years. Harold Lloyd and his wife, the former Mildred Harris, have been married 15 years. The Warner Baxters now are in their nineteenth year of married life. Mr. and Mrs. John Boles have been man and wife for 17 years and the Fredric Marches have been wed for 12 years.

TORSO PROBERS HUNT JUNKMAN

Quilt Used to Wrap Victim Identified, Regarded as Best Clue Yet.

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND — A tattered quilt in which parts of the 13th torso-murder victim of "the mad butcher of Kingsbury Run" were wrapped, was identified today, and police detectives started a hunt for a swarthy-complexioned junk collector.

Police regarded identification of the quilt as the best lead yet in the four-year search for the mysterious killer.

Charles Damyn, a barber, who lives in East Ninth street, near the foot of which the 12th and 13th victims were found a week ago, told a newspaper that he recognized a picture of the quilt it had published as one he previously had owned and had given to a junkman.

He said he had given it to the man five weeks ago when he saw him prowling in rear of his apartment. Damyn said he had seen the junkman twice and that he was a man about 50 to 55 years old, weighing about 150 pounds.

"I saw this fellow prowling around and asked him what he was doing," Damyn said. "He told me he was looking for junk to sell. I gave him the quilt and some other things and he said he would be back the next day and give me 67 cents for the lot."

'Fix' Money Paid Hines Regularly, Witness Says

Tammany Leader Uneasy as Schultz Mobster Tells Jury He Personally Paid Him Every Week.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—George Weinberg, one of the "Dutch" Schultz lieutenants, created a sensation today at the trial of James J. ("Jimmy") Hines when he testified he saw Hines regularly in 1932 and paid Hines money he was to get from the Schultz mob for allegedly "fixing" the $20,000,000-a-year policy racket for the Schultz syndicate.

He said the first payment he made to Hines was $500 and that this was after Hines had agreed to "fix" things for the gang. He said later the sum went up to $1,000.

The alleged payments to Hines occurred, according to Weinberg, after Schultz "took over" the policy racket from the independent bankers in Harlem.

Tells About 'Deal.'

Weinberg told of the meeting in an apartment in East Ninety-eighth street when the alleged deal with Hines was made whereby the Tammany leader was to co-operate with the Schultz syndicate.

Weinberg said that ten days

BOUND FOR U. S.

French Plane Takes Off on First Leg of Flight.

BISCAROSSE, FRANCE —(UP)—The 37-ton seaplane, Lieutenant De Vasseau Aris, France's belated entry in the international ocean trials, took off today for a flight across the Atlantic to New York by way of the Azores.

The plane, forced to abandon a similar attempt last week, will fly first to Lisbon, Portugal. It probably will remain there a day before resuming the flight, stopping to refuel at Horta, Azores, and then going on to Port Washington, N. Y., New York City's seaplane base.

The big plane took off last Thursday for Lisbon but had gone only a few miles when it was forced to return by a faulty propeller.

PAY TRIBUTE TO VALENTINO

Women Stop At Grave of Actor Dead For 12 Years.

HOLLYWOOD—(UP)—Hundreds of women who remembered Rudolph Valentino as the greatest of all Hollywood lovers stopped at his grave today to pay homage on the 12th anniversary of his death.

The masses of flowers were expected to be the tallest and the crowds the largest of any year since he died, probably because of the revival of interest in the movies of the Sheik.

Extra guards were posted around the cemetery to keep souvenir hunters from removing the flowers from his grave.

SLATTERY 'BROKE'

Newsmen Pay $5 Fine For Ex-Boxing Champ.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Jimmy Slattery, former world light heavyweight boxing champion, arraigned in police court yesterday on a charge of drinking liquor on the street, was unable to pay a $5 fine. Reporters paid the fine. Slattery said he had been "bumming about" since he lost the title in 1929.

City Runs Into New Snag In Bids On No. 2 Fire Station

The city board of control today ran into a new snag—the second in as many days—this time in awarding contracts for the construction of a new No. 2 fire station.

When the 17 bids were opened yesterday by the board which is comprised of Mayor Claude M. Hunter and Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist, it was found that the lowest bidder had submitted a check for only $100 with his proposal while the specifications called for a check of five per cent of the total amount of the bid.

Nist explained that the bid submitted by J. W. Ness on the general construction was $6,218, which was $536 under his closest competitor, S. B. White, whose proposal was $6,754, but that Ness had failed to submit with his bid, a check for $310 (five per cent) which made the bid illegal. Ness' check was for $100.

It was explained that checks of specified amounts are required by law on all bids to guarantee that the contract will be entered into if accepted.

Mayor Hunter said that he and Nist were studying the bids, all submitted by Mansfield firms, but could not decide whether to award the contract to the second lowest bidder or readvertise the work.

He pointed out that Ness was the only contractor to submit bids on the entire construction job. His total price, including, general construction, heating, plumbing and electrical work was $7,835, or $360 less than if the next lowest bids had been let under separate contracts.

Other bidders on the general construction were the Jacob Wolfe

DEMOCRATS GET READY FOR FALL

Brunner Mentioned for Chairmanship as State Central Committee Gathers.

State Democratic leaders, including E. B. Kallmerten, newly elected member of the state central committee from the 17th district, were in Columbus today to confer with Charles Sawyer, the party's nominee for governor, and other candidates to lay groundwork for the fall campaign.

Unconfirmed reports said Henry G. Brunner, Mansfield, HOLC manager in Ohio, had been mentioned for the chairmanship of the state central committee. The group is scheduled to organize Wednesday in Columbus. Brunner was state executive chairman during George White's administration, as governor.

Sawyer arrived in Columbus after his return from a vacation in the east where he visited with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park.

'PEACHES' GETS THIRD OF ESTATE

NEW YORK—(UP)—Mrs. Frances (Peaches) Heenan Browning, widow of the late Edward W. (Daddy) Browning, was awarded one third of the income of the real estate properties of her multi-millionaire husband in an intermediate report filed today in supreme court.

Browning's estate once was valued at from $3,000,000 to $7,000,000, largely in real estate. In the report filed by Referee Francis J. Quillinan, Mrs. Browning will be paid an income by the Edbro Realty corporation.

The report did not estimate the exact amount the widow would receive.

NEW DATE SET

Ohio Pension Inquiry To Begin In September, Board Rules.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The social security board today postponed from Aug. 29 to Sept. 6 the date for hearings on the board's charges of mal-administration of old age assistance in Ohio.

Henry J. Berrodin, chief of the state public welfare department, requested the postponement in a telegram today in order to have additional time to prepare his case.

DEVICES SHOW ANY 'KNOCKS' IN HUMAN MOTORS

FINDS TROUBLE IN HURRY

One Permits Operator to See Wheels Go Around, Other Takes Picture.

By JANE WILLIAMS

How's your liver? Or do you have stomach ulcers? Or merely that hoi polloi of ailments—gall stones? Possibly your heart is a little oversized and leans slightly north by northwest. On the other hand, maybe you've only a touch of the rickets or scurvey.

But anyway, if you make the rounds of the new equipment at General hospital, you'll have SOMETHING, because there isn't a nook or cranny of your "innards" that can't be looked into.

Diagnostic "Station."

It's just like running your auto into one of those diagnostic service stations where a machine registers carbon in your motor, the need of new rings, a leak in your oil line or what have you. A human machine, just like a machine motor, is never 100 per cent perfect, and there's bound to be a bit of carbon or a slight knock somewhere.

The new diagnostic machine and the fluoroscope, recently installed at the hospital, are handy gadgets in locating the carbon and the knocks. Not 100 per cent infallible, you understand, but they're a big help, the operator will tell you.

The difference between these two machines is that the diagnostic machine makes a picture of your "innards" while the fluroscope permits the operator to look inside and watch the wheels go 'round.

Shows Up Ailments.

The former makes pictures of organs as well as bones, and a picture of your kidneys, f'rinstance, will show up stones, infections, tumors or anything of the tissue ailments. If you've nev-

HELEN'S OUT

Neuritis Keeps Tennis 'Queen' From Singles Championships.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Because of the effects of "a severe attack of neuritis," which has kept her out of competition since returning from her Wimbledon triumph, Helen Wills Moody today notified the U. S. Lawn Tennis association she would not play in the forthcoming national women's singles championships at Forest Hills.

Mrs. Moody disclosed her decision in a letter to Edward B. Moss, executive secretary of the U. S. L. T. A.

The long-time queen of the courts, who undertook a comeback campaign this year with the idea of seeking to regain the American singles crown as well as honors at Wimbledon, accompanied her notice of withdrawal with a refund of her entire expenses, amounting to $1,309.45, for her trip to England with the Wightman cup team.

Reports Roosevelt Gains CIO Approval On Labor Act Change

(By International News Service)
(Copyright, 1938)

NEW YORK — The New York Journal-American today said in a copyrighted story that President Roosevelt had obtained approval of the Committee for Industrial Organization for revision of the Wagner Labor act.

The story added:

John L. Lewis's labor group, according to an authoritative source, will not oppose any major proposal of the American Federation of Labor except an amendment which would cripple the power of the national labor relations board.

The CIO is ready to accede to:

1. Rewriting the law in an effort to end jurisdictional disputes between rival unions.
2. Granting more power to the craft unions in the A. F. of L. under the act.

With the CIO agreement not to oppose these changes, coupled with the insistence of the A. F. of L. that "labor's magna charta" must be changed, it seemed to labor leaders on both sides that revision of the Wagner act would be put through the next session of congress.

President Roosevelt already has agreed with President William Green of the A. F. of L. that changes in the act are needed.

The decision of the CIO not to oppose certain amendments, therefore, removes the last obstacles to revision. It is a startling change of position by the Lewis group, inasmuch as Lewis himself, and his chief aids, frequently have voiced objections to any alteration in the law.

Film Baby Sensation Grows Up

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—Peggy Montgomery, now 19, who as "Baby Peggy" was a silent screen sensation, was all grown up today.

She announced her engagement to Gordon D. Ayres, playwright, culminating a romance that began three years ago when both were working at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios in the picture "Ah, Wilderness."

They have tentatively set October 19 as their wedding date.

REAPPRAISAL OVER, FIGURES FACE SCRUTINY

New Real Estate Valuations Open for Inspection at Auditor's Office.

Richland county's new real estate valuations, established in a property reappraisal completed recently, were open for inspection today at the office of County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe at the courthouse.

Shelby's new values were placed on display last week at the city hall, and a number of property owners already have obtained their new listings there, attaches of the auditor's office said.

Property holders may file protests against the new values by obtaining blanks from the county auditor and returning them to him. Complaints must be in writing.

Board Hears Complaints

If efforts to adjust the values fail to satisfy the protesting property holder, the complaints will be heard by the county board of revision, the auditor said.

Persons unable to call for their new valuation figures at the courthouse may obtain them by mail by sending return postage with their request, Wolfe explained.

The new values will increase the value of county real estate approximately $5,000,000, with about $2,000,000 of that amount represented in a boost in values in Mansfield. The increase in property taxes next year as a result of the reappraisal will be about $75,000, it was estimated.

Most of the increase, Wolfe said, is the result of new building and an adjustment of inequalities in property values, especially in Shelby.

The average increase in the county is about 6 per cent, while in Shelby it is about 13 per cent over the old values, the figures showed. Total valuation of county and city real estate was boosted to slightly more than $90,000,000

The property reappraisal, required every six years by the state, was completed at a cost of about $8,000.

BUS TURNS OVER

43 Children Injured, 4 Seriously In Oklahoma Wreck.

ALTUS, Okla. —(INS)— Four of the forty-three children hurt when a wooden school bus turned over near here remained in a serious condition today.

One man was killed and his two companions injured when their car rammed into the rear of the bus and drove it off the highway. Most of the children were treated for minor injuries and were able to continue home.

REGENT TURNS DOWN CZECHS' PLEA FOR PACT

Hitler Persuades Horthy to Be Friendly, and Reject Non-Aggression Treaty.

HAILS DOUBLE VICTORY

Fuehrer Gleeful as Hungary Also Gets Right to Re-arm Without Concessions.

(By International News Service)

BUDAPEST—From aboard a luxurious yacht in the Kiel canal, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today virtually exploded the Little Entente by bringing Hungary into the Nazi camp of nations.

He persuaded Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, to reject a non-aggression pact with Czechoslovakia and at the same time had the satisfaction of seeing Hungary obtain from the Little Entente conference at Bled, Jugoslavia, the right to re-arm without concessions.

Victory for Germany.

In government and diplomatic quarters here, the joint development was viewed as a striking victory for Nazi Germany and represented a vaulting stride in Hitler's campaign to spread his brownshirt influence down the Danube valley.

Captivated by the idea of a beneficial friendship with Nazi Germany, whose armed might he viewed at first hand by watching naval maneuvers in the North Sea and inspecting the Reich's formidable new fortifications on the island of Heligoland, Horthy threw in his lot with the Nazis.

He telephoned his representatives at the Little Entente conference, instructing them to turn down the proposed non-aggression pact on the grounds Czechoslovakia refuses to recognize the rights of the Hungarian minority.

Wins Arms Demand.

He insisted upon Hungary's right to rearm notwithstanding, however, and permission to do so was granted. As a result, by obtaining this sanction without concessions in return, Hungary virtually withdrew itself as a working and bargaining member of the Little Entente and emerged as a satellite of the reich.

DAVEY PROMISES

No Pension Cuts This Year, He Tells Ohio's Aged.

COLUMBUS —(UP)— There will be no general reduction in old age pensions in Ohio this year, Governor Martin L. Davey pledged here today.

The governor's statement was in contrast to one issued last week by M. Ray Allison, state finance director, who predicted a horizontal reduction in the pensions being paid 110,000 Ohioans would have to be made, probably in September.

Governor Davey declined to discuss the charges of maladministration made against his administration by the federal social security board.

The federal government has contributed $36,648,000 to Ohio pensions since early in 1936.

Florida's Governor In Oxygen Tent At Hospital.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—(INS)—Governor Fred P. Cone of Florida, suffering from a heart disease and an attack of influenza continued to battle for his life early today under an oxygen tent at the St. Vincent's hospital here.

Hospital attaches early today described the elderly governor's condition as "unchanged." Dr. Stanley Edwin announced last night the governor was in a "serious but not immediately dangerous" condition.

Shifts Inquiry to Fascist, Nazi Operations in U. S.

DIES PROBERS TO START NEW QUIZ IN N. Y.

Sub-Committee to Investigate Charges, Report Back for December Hearing.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The house committee investigating un-American activities decided today to split into three groups and shift its inquiry from Communism to Fascist and Nazi organizations.

Chairman Dies (D-Tex) announced that public hearings would be recessed after today's session. He said a subcommittee of four headed by Rep. Starns (D-Ala) would go to New York for a preliminary examination of material gathered for the new phase of the inquiry.

The Starnes group will begin hearings in about a week, and expects to complete its work seven or eight days later. Representatives Dempsey (D-NM) Healy (D-Mass) and Thomas (R-NJ) will accompany Starns.

Resume In December.

Dies said the committee intended to "give as much time and attention to the Fascists and Nazis as we gave to the Communists." He added that hearings probably would not be resumed in Washington until December.

Dempsey, Starnes and Mosier (D-Ohio) will form a sub-committee to work on the west coast, and Mosier, Dies and Mason (D-Ill) will conduct a midwestern inquiry.

The full committee heard testimony yesterday from Dr. J. B. Matthews, a former leader in Communistic activities. He declared American Communists were seeking to grasp power by bringing about an economic collapse and then would "slaughter reactionary property holders and idealistic believers in democracy and civil liberties."

Matthews said he slowly became disillusioned after years of work for the Communists. He termed their social theory "the most complete illusion ever born in the human brain."

He mentioned one probable phase to be studied by the committee's west coast group when he declared:

"Almost everybody in Hollywood has been signed up for one of these united front (Communist) organizations except Mickey Mouse and Snow White."

Matthews said thousands of prominent Americans had aided Communist cause by permitting use of their names for propaganda purposes by various associations. Many persons did not recognize the intent behind the united front organizations, he explained.

Mansfielders to Be Guests as N. Y. Job Drive Opens

Two Mansfield men will be guests of honor next week at a luncheon at the Hotel Commodore, New York City, which will be given by the Electrical and Gas association of New York, when that organization opens its "Jobs for Men" campaign which is similar to the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter and A. E. Allen, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, will be guests of honor and will bring Mansfield's greeting to the luncheon group. The luncheon will be held Wednesday, Aug. 31.

A member of the Electrical and Gas association is Consolidated Edison company of New York, Inc., which recently placed an order for 25,000 electric irons with the Mansfield Westinghouse plant. Consolidated Edison will present the program at the luncheon meeting.

Other guests of honor at the luncheon include Jasper McLevy, mayor of Bridgeport, Conn., S. Davis Wilson, mayor of Philadelphia, Congressman Bruce Barton, and officials of electric companies that are members of the association.

H. S. (Tubby) Jones has a good reason to suspect that he is the victim of a conspiracy. The Mansfield architect made a sensational finish in a tournament golf match at Westbrook last week, winning on the 19th hole after being four down going to the 15th tee. But instead of reading of his phenomenal comeback in the paper the next day, he was surprised to see his opponent, R. E. Burns, credited with the victory. But, Tubby, it was no conspiracy. The result was merely reported to us incorrectly.

Being "nursemaid" for two orphan terrier puppies is no easy task, Mrs. Clifford Heaton, 171 Vennum avenue, has discovered. When the puppies' mother was killed by an automobile, Mrs. Heaton took over the duties of feeding them from a bottle and attempting to console them. But they whine so much, she says, that she's not sure whether they are getting too much to eat, or too little, or are just plain lonesome. The mother dog, who was eager to protect her offspring, lost her life while chasing a boy on a bicycle who rode too close to the puppies.

Three Mansfield Sea Scouts went for a sail—and ended up by walking the soles off their shoes. The trio, made up of Edward Kinkle, Bert Skelly and Grant Clark, hitch-hiked to Sandusky Sunday to sail their home-made craft which was anchored there. They sailed to Marblehead but there was no breeze to bring them back and they took turns paddling with one paddle. It was quite late when they docked but they managed to thumb a ride to Fitchville. There, however, the patron saint of hitch-hikers (if there is one), deserted them and after waiting until 1:30 a. m., they started to walk back—and walk they did, every step of the 21 miles, arriving home in time for Monday morning breakfast.

DRIVERS FINED

One Pleads Guilty and Court Convicts Second.

Two motorists found guilty in municipal court today on charges of violating the traffic code were fined a total of $35 and costs. One lost his driving rights for six months.

Roland Wild, Cleveland, pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle with license plates issued for another was fined $50 and costs. Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch suspended $25 of the fine.

Convicted on a charge of careless and reckless driving, John Czernewski, 22 Cedar street, was fined $10 and costs and his operators permit suspended for six months.

Czernewski was arrested yesterday on a warrant signed by Jack Steltz, R. D. 3, Mansfield. Steltz testified that Czernewski operated his car on the left side of the highway on route 545 Saturday night and caused a collision in which his car was damaged.

Wild was arrested by Corporal J. E. Ruch, of the state highway patrol on U. S. route 42, north of Mansfield last night.

4TH ARRESTED IN MUTILATION

New Suspect Held Following Arrest of Doctor Accused by Ex-U. S. Officer.

(By Associated Press)

OLYMPIA, Wash.—Prosecutor Smith Troy announced today officers had rounded up all four night raiders accused of the revenge abduction and attempted mutilation of Irving Baker, former coast guard officer.

The fourth man taken into custody, Troy said, was Robert Smith, 32, arrested early today at his farm home at Brady, 20 miles west of Olympia.

Smith admitted he participated in the kidnaping and assault, under "altogether different circumstances" than the others involved, the prosecutor reported, and promised a complete statement later.

Previously jailed on kidnaping and assault charges were Dr. K. W. Berry, 54-year-old Olympia physician; James Reddick, 27, taxi driver, and William K. McAloon, former night marshal at Montesano, Wash.

Taken from his home by two armed men posing as officers, Baker was driven to a lonely spot Friday night and beaten. An unsuccessful attempt was made to emasculate him.

Prosecutor Troy accused Dr. Berry of organizing the kidnaping because of a reputed "affair" between Baker and Mrs. Berry. Baker, recovering, denied he was intimate with the doctor's wife.

DAVEY'S FIRM MISSES SALE TO CITY BECAUSE OF TECHNICALITY

The Davey Compressor company, Inc., of Kent, headed by Gov. Martin L. Davey, today had missed making a sale to the city of Mansfield because its low bid on a mobile air compressor was accompanied by a check drawn on an out of town bank instead of a Mansfield bank as called for in the specifications.

The firm will have another opportunity to bid on the equipment however, because all bids were ruled out by the board of control yesterday.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist announced that new bids would be accepted at the office of the board until noon Sept. 8, on the machine to be used in connection with the Woodland water improvement job.

Specifications call for the delivery of a mobile unit mounted on wheels with rubber tires and having a capacity capable of driving two air hammers.

Nist said that all bids were ruled out when it was found that the proposal submitted by the Davey company, was $400 under the next lowest bid which was accompanied by a check on a Mansfield bank. He explained that the board considered the difference in the price too great to overlook.

The bid submitted by the governor's firm quoted a price of $1,400 but had enclosed a check on a Kent bank. The city advertised that "each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check in the sum of $50 on a solvent bank in the city of Mansfield."

The policy of the board in the past has been to rule out bids when checks are drawn on out of town banks and award the contract to the next best bidder, Nist said.

Another bid thrown out because the check was drawn on an out of town bank was that of the Charles M. Ingersoll company, Rocky River, whose price on the machine was $1,822.

Other bids submitted were the G. L. Rogers company, Mansfield, $1,791; Hughes Supply company, Mansfield, $1,910; Lorentz-Wheeler company, Columbus, $1,970, Automotive Supply company, Mansfield, $1,955, and a bid of $1,651, submitted by the Hercules Steel Products company, Galion, on a machine formerly used as a demonstrator.

PLAN WIND-UP

Special Program Arranged for Last Playground Day.

A picnic and play day program at two city parks Friday will bring to a close activities at Mansfield playgrounds for the summer, Al Fendrick, playground director, announced today.

The 12 grounds will be divided into two divisions, one group meeting at North Lake park, and the other at Liberty park. Children from Temple Court, Brinkerhoff, Carpenter, Prospect park, South park, and North Lake park will meet at that park, while children from Johns park, Garden Acres, Bushnell, Madison, Hedges and Liberty park grounds will meet at Liberty grounds.

The children will spend the day in swimming, and playing tennis, kittenball and other recreational games, with a picnic dinner at noon.

At North Lake park the program will be in charge of John Chatlain, assisted by supervisors in that area, and the Liberty park program will be in charge of six supervisors headed by Miss Lois Baughman.

YOUNG DRIVER ON PROBATION

Pleads Guilty to Two Charges Before Probate Judge.

A 17-year-old Mansfield youth who pleaded guilty before Probate Judge C. J. Anderson yesterday to charges and reckless driving and driving without an operator's license, was placed on probation for one month.

The youth, who was arrested by Patrolman Clare Kyler, was ordered to report each week to Ralph Carroll, county probation officer, and to refrain from driving until he obtains an operator's permit.

Kyler said the youth was driving a truck 60 miles an hour on Sturges avenue.

5 Quakes Alarm Thousands in Eastern U. S.

SEVERE TREMORS CAUSE SCARE IN THREE STATES

Hundreds Shaken From Beds, Flood Police, Firemen With Anxious Inquiries.

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — Apparently centered in the Delaware river valley, a series of five earthquakes rocked the city and adjacent New Jersey, Delaware and eastern Pennsylvania last night and early today in one of the strangest disturbances on record here.

Thousands of residents throughout the area, some of them shaken from their beds, flooded police and fire stations and other emergency centers with anxious queries after the first and succeeding shocks.

In Philadelphia, homes shook, pictures were knocked from the walls and dishes were broken by the first tremor, two minutes in duration. Newspaper offices, police and fire headquarters immediately were jammed with telephone calls.

Finds Archway Safe.

Following the succeeding shocks Mayor S. Davis Wilson rushed to city hall at 2 a. m. and ordered an immediate inspection of a 40-ton piece of granite recently placed over a pedestrian archway to replace a similar stone found resting precariously on weakened supports. The new block was found securely in place. Extra firemen and police were called to duty.

The first shock, registered on the seismograph at Franklin Institute at 11:41 p. m. last night, was followed by tremors at 1:08, 1:12, 3:58 and 4:05 a. m. this morning.

Dr. James Stokley, director of the Fels planetarium at Franklin Institute, calculated the quake centered about 140 miles from Philadelphia. Reports received from Fordham university place the epicenter of the disturbance in Bucks county, Pa.

Bucks and northern Montgomery counties in Pennsylvania, Camden and Mercer counties in New Jersey, West Trenton and Freehold, N. J., and Wilmington, Del., were among areas reporting the most severe demonstrations.

TAKES STUMP

West to Campaign in Ohio for Sawyer, Bulkley.

Charles West, of Granville, former congressman from the 17th district which includes Mansfield, is back in the political picture after a conference with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, dispatches reported today.

He announced that he will come into Ohio and campaign for Senator Robert J. Bulkley who is a candidate for re-election on a 100 per cent New Deal platform, and for Charles Sawyer, Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio.

After a conference with the president, West said today: "We've got a fight on our hands, but I think we'll win."

West was personal contact man for the president while holding a position as under secretary in the department of the interior at a salary of $10,000, until his immediate superior, Secretary Ickes ousted him from the office early this year.

FOUR NAMED AS V.F.W. DELEGATES

Will Represent Mansfield Post at Convention This Week.

Delegates to the national convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars which is being held in Columbus this week, were named by the Alfred I. Harrington post last night at its regular meeting in Memorial building.

Those who will officially represent the Mansfield veterans are Vernon G. Castor, C. C. Flood, Glen W. Kaylor and R. B. Gardner.

A number of veterans from the post are expected to attend various sessions. Among those who will go to Columbus for the drum corps contest Wednesday are Sam V. Fox, Hollis Moorhead and Archie Fisher, commander of the Mansfield post.

PAYS OLD BILL

Ross County Sends Richland $153 In Payment Of Relief Debt.

Richland county commissioners yesterday received a check for $153 from Ross county in payment of a relief bill which commissioners and the prosecutor's office had attempted to collect for more than a year.

The amount represented the cost of an operation for a non-resident of Richland county who came here from Chillicothe, commissioners said. The bill was paid by Richland county, and an attempt was started immediately to collect from Ross county commissioners who protested at the time.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Never Trust Cross-Hand Piano Players, Make 'Em Always Play It Straight

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—A man called up and said he had some tickets for Jose Iturbi, the piano player, and I asked, "Does he do it cross-handed?"

"Does he do it cros-handed?" he said. "Brother, he does it cross-handed, back-handed, blindfolded, anything you wish. Why?"

So I said I would pass it up because—

Well, one time they were having a terrible winter in Florida. No chumps, no fix, plenty of prohibition trouble and the boats were sailing right on past Miami for Cuba. You could see their lights in the night off-shore.

That winter my friend, Mr. Cutey Pearce, had a nice little plant where he was prepared to deal a high-class line of wines, liquors and cigars, rare viands and exotic delicacies, and he would sit there night after lonely night, eating cream cheese and Worcestershire sauce and sniffing beer out of the safe, and snarling at those boats going by.

This terrible winter, Mr. Pearce had in his plant one of those personal service pianists with a little portable, horse-face piano about the size of a laundry hamper.

The gag was to measure the house and pick a table where some devil was tearing up money for fun, then roll the little box over in the lee of that table and start singing request numbers for the members of the fair sex.

This would flatter the chump who was lifting the weight for the party and he would order more wine if he was any gentleman, in appreciation of this compliment to his pick.

Well, things were just awful, but one night, what do you know, in pops a live one, a little bald guy, with a great, big, blue-eyed baby, built like a wrestler and full of high spirits and the mood of dolce far niente. Some like them big. It's a free country. There were about eight in the party, but the little bald guy was the papa. You could see that.

The gentleman ordered wine, which wasn't free, but $25 a crock at that time, and Mr. Pearce cracked his hands for that piano mug, but that one had already thrown down his racing form and was bearing down on the table like a taxicab, clouting those keys on the wing.

He pulled up alongside with the fancy flourish of a U. S. destroyer and began to bear down on the love angle and the big blond began to roll her eyes and squeeze the little bald guy's hand. It looked like the rent, all right.

But pretty soon the piano guy began to play cross-handed. He would sing about love and lean toward the big blond like he was going to put his head on her chest, and then cross his hands on that keyboard, first the right one over the left, then the left over the right in sweeping, graceful strokes and plink the piano cute licks each time.

And pretty soon the big blond let loose of the little bald guy's hand and put her elbows on the table and her chin on her hands and started heaving and giving that great, big, blue-eyed business to the piano mug, who didn't have a dime.

This lasted about 10 minutes, until suddenly the little bald guy jumped up, measured the big blond and busted her a beauty, right on one of her pretty blue eyes. There was a teribile scuffle at that, and after Mr. Pearce had regretfully given the whole party a heave into the evening he came back and fired the pianist.

"Never," Mr. Pearce said to me, "never trust a cross-handed piano player. Make them play it straight, because the minute they begin that cross-handed business they are up to something."

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The life of a portrait painter in Startown must be tough.

Azadia Newman wouldn't say so. Azadia would—and did—say quite the opposite. And I doubt if any portrait painter in Startown would come out and say it baldly. Unless it might be Willy Pogany, who took his tinted tiff with Connie Bennett to court and got the worst of it.

But I haven't seen Willy Pogany lately, and I've just seen Azadia Newman, who is a lovely creature to see.

Azadia lives on a hillside and you park below and hike up umpteen steps. I reckon if you're the athletic type—like Scott Colton, Azadia's handsome new husband —those steps are no trick. But if typing is your violent exercise then you're in no mood for Art after the climb. Still, between gasps and pants, I made some notes on the informal exhibit in Azadia's studio.

So when Azadia came in—slender, fine-featured, titian-haired—I was already impressed. Her fine and beautiful portrait of the blind Senator Gore is something to see and see again. I liked her John Nance Garner and her Walter Huston and her Norma Winder and many others. And I decided (just as if I knew about capital-A Art) that here was a girl who knew character and could paint it.

I EVEN liked her Gladys Swarthout. And I could see that her Joan Crawford had its points, But the Carole Lombard—it's very pretty. I said so. "Pretty," I said.

"You mean you don't like it?" asked Azadia.

"I mean I don't think it's Lombard," said the Expert-for-a-Day, who thinks Lombard is tops as is and doesn't need prettifying.

So we two went 'round and 'round from there. Friendly, understand, and right merrily. Azadia has a sense of humor. She appreciates Expert Criticism from one who can't paint even with a spray gun.

"On movie queens generally—leaving out Lombard, Crawford, Swarthout—don't you think the artist tends to paint them as they'd like to be painted? As their studios would like them to be painted?" This was the Expert pursuing his theme, doggedly.

Azadia wouldn't budge an inch. "I love doing movie stars," she said. "They're grand subjects. Besides, I'm a movie fan so I've loved getting to know them as I do when they sit for me. And I paint them as I see them."

Well, we didn't get anywhere but it was fun. I still think the life of a portrait painter in Startown must be tough. I'll have to ask Willy Pogany about it.

THEN Azadia brought in her Arleen Whelan. Azadia discovered Arleen before the movies did. Arleen was a hairdresser then, and Azadia painted her because she wanted to paint that piquant face, that rich auburn hair. Azadia picked out Arleen for movie starring long ago, just as a lot of us have been thinking Azadia ought to be in pictures herself.

Azadia may be too, before long. She's going to take a test.

"But I'd do pictures only if they wouldn't interfere with my painting," she said. "It must come first."

And she means that. She couldn't have done that Gore, that Garner, that Huston and those others if she didn't.

Veterans' Net Reign Near End

News-Journal Tournament Uncovers Promising Junior Material.

THE one think that The News-Journal's city championship tennis tournament proved this year is that the domination of the eliminations by the veteran clan of stars is near the end.

Young players figured more prominently in the tournament this year than ever, and the future appears to hold much in store for them.

Shows Promise.

Particularly successful in the senior men's singles competition this year is Bob Keefe, an 18-year-old Mansfield high school senior, who shows signs of developing into one of the better racquet wielders in the city.

Keefe has been playing the court game only three years, but he has advanced to the semi-finals of the men's singles. He lacks experience, of course, but his game has improved to a point where he is a threat in any tournament.

Keefe has been responsible for the major upset in the tournament. His defeat of the heavily-favored John Foltz knocked one of the perenniel title contenders out of the picture, and he gave another fine performance when he took Frank Gadfield into camp.

Gene Rudolph and Bob Ellison, to mention others, are promising tennis material. Rudolph won The News-Journal junior title Sunday by defeating Ellison.

Loses to Moore.

Ellison also competed in the senior men's singles, and remained in the elimination until the quarter-final round yesterday when he fell before Thornton Moore, who will meet another young threat, Bob Spear, in the top bracket semi-finals.

Moore defeated Ellison, 6-0, 3-6, 7-5, at the Woodland court yesterday. Bob Enos and Ellsworth Slabaugh were also scheduled yesterday, but the match was postponed because of darkness.

Headlining Wednesday's program at the Woodland court will be a men's single semi-final match between Moore and Spear. The match is billed at 4:30 p. m.

Helen to Retire?

NEW YORK—(INS)—With a hint she may be finished with tournament tennis for all time after a career unparalleled in the history of the sport, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody today announced her withdrawal from the national championships to be staged next month at Forest Hills. In a letter to the United States Lawn Tennis association, Mrs. Moody blamed an attack of neuritis for her action.

Stage Playoff Finals Today

Fairground Games Conclude Baseball Program.

The city recreation baseball program for junior players was to be brought to a close at the Fairground today with the finals of the Shaughnessy playoffs.

The Intermediate league finals pitted the league champion Tigers against the Athletics, and the title winning giants tackled the Reds in the Junior league finals.

A two-hit pitching performance by Freiheit enabled the Tigers to defeat the Senators, 4 to 1, the young pitching star striking out seven and walking only one. Both hits permitted by Freiheit were obtained by Henke, who collected a double and single. Eisele and Beck led the Tigers' attack.

Phillips gave up four hits as he hurled the Athletics to a 3 to 2 victory over the Yanks, and struck out seven. Martin and Sheriff paced the Athletics with two hits apiece.

Allowing only one hit, Nameth hurled the Reds to a 7 to 0 victory over the Cubs and although they were beaten, 11 to 9, the Giants won on a forfeit from the Dodgers, who used an ineligible player. Romano hit a home run for the Dodgers.

JOHNS PARK JUNIORS WIN OVER NORTH PARKERS, 9-4

Scoring three times in the first inning, the Johns park juniors never trailed as they whipped the North park juniors, 9 to 4, at North park yesterday. R. Brown and Campbell of the winners and Miner of the losers were the hitting stars with two blows apiece.

THE second and final half of the City Class A softball league race was concluded yesterday with the representatives of Johns and Prospect park sharing the championship.

A play-off to determine the league championship is the next thing on the schedule, and it will involve the Johnnies and Prospectors. Dates have not been set, however.

Trims Sportsmen.

Johns park, first half champion, brought its regular schedule to a close in an auspicious fashion by trimming the Richland county Fish & Game representatives of North park, 6 to 2, at North park, while Prospect lost a chance to win the title outright by dropping a 11 to 8 decision to Liberty park on the winners' diamond.

Jim Fullager's pitching was a major factor in the victory which enabled the Johnnies to gain a share of the second half gonfalon. Scattering six hits, Fullager struck out nine and did not issue a run after the first inning in the game halted at the end of the eighth because of darkness.

Balbaugh's triple, an error and Henrich's double gave the Sportsmen their only runs in the opening frame.

Making his first appearance since early in the season when he suffered a broken finger, Lefty Garver also pitched well, and the Johnnies were unable to do any real damage until the fifth when Bob Bride's double enabled them to take a 3 to 2 lead.

Bride tied Ted Frisbee of Prospect park for the home run championship of the league in the second inning when he blasted out No. 5.

Harry Ross, Johns park's third sacker, also poled a home run, and it was probably the longest hit at North park this season. Harry parked the ball into the creek in centerfield in the eighth with the sacks empty.

Liberty park enjoyed two big innings to defeat the Prospectors. The Liberties hung up four runs in the opening inning, but they relinquished the lead in the third when Prospect tallied thrice to go ahead by a 5 to 4 margin.

Prospect held a 6 to 5 lead going into the last of the seventh, the inning in which Liberty put the clincher on the tilt with a five-run rally.

Home Runs Cap Rally.

Featuring the game-winning outbursts were home runs by Hummel and Vogel. Each one came with a runner on the sacks.

The game was a free-hitting affair, with each club obtaining 14 safeties. Kuelling led the winners wtih three blows, and Falk garnered a trio for Prospect.

Incidentally, both defeats suffered by Prospect in the second half were administered by the Liberties, and the Johnnies' two setbacks were handed out by the team with which they share the title.

SAM SNEAD DEFEATS COOPER IN PLAY-OFF

TORONTO, Ont. — (INS) — Sam Snead, West Virginia's golf wizard, today possessed $1,000 and the Canadian open golf title to keep him in the forefront as the season's biggest money winner.

In a 27-hole play-off, Snead beat Lighthorse Harry Cooper, defending champion from Chicago, 101 to 106. Each had 277 at the end of the regulation 72 holes and for the first 18 holes of the playoff, both shot 67.

These Rams Get Ready to Ramble for Cleveland

Bobby Feller Loses 'Box Office Magic'; Only 1,500 See Him Beaten By White Sox

BOSTON, Mass.—(U.P.)—Bob Feller, a raw-boned kid just a year out of high school, today had gained a complete and liberal education in the one-sided sports world where only a winner counts.

The toast of a baseball mad nation and the game's greatest drawing card when he was blazing a fast ball past the American league's outstanding hitters, Feller realized as the Cleveland Indians came here to open a series with the Boston Red Sox that he was just a youngster who had been lost in the shuffle of a sport that makes heroes overnight and breaks them just as suddenly.

Feller was beaten 4 to 2 by the sixth place Chicago White Sox yesterday at Cleveland as the Indians concluded a disastrous home stay. The loss was the youngster's eighth of the campaign as against 12 triumphs.

Feller had one bad inning, the eighth, and it cost him the victory. The defeat was incidental, however. The important thing was that only 1,500 fans witnessed the game, a turnout that would have been equalled regardless of who the Cleveland moundsman was and adequate proof that the Iowa farm boy no longer is "box office magic."

For seven innings Feller pitched superb ball. Over that stretch he did not issue a base on balls and held a 2 to 1 lead. Then came the fatal eighth.

A single by Joe Kuhel started the trouble. Another single by Gerald Walker and a walk to Luke Appling filled the bases with two men out. Then little Mike Kreevich broke up the game with a triple to deep center.

The first White Sox run came in the sixth inning and the Indians made their counters in the third and sixth rounds.

The loss left Cleveland only one game in front of the third-place Boston club. The Indians must gain at least an even break in today's double-header to retain the runner-up position.

Mel Harder and Denny Galehouse were slated for mound duty for Cleveland with Fritz Ostermueller and Jack Wilson opposing them.

SIGNS OF--AUTUMN!

Signs of — autumn! Yessiree, they're here, and it won't be long before Mansfield will move into the stands to watch 'em battle on the gridiron.

The season is already here for one Mansfield team — the Bronchos, who will carry Mansfield's banner on the semi-pro battlefields next fall. Clyde Adams will operate the team, with Rabbit Siler as coach and Jim Heiser as business manager.

This year marks Siler's debut as a coach, but he has been a player for many years. Siler played pro ball in this city several years, and previously played at Ashland high school and college.

Practice sessions are already being held by the club for the first game tentatively set for Sunday, Sept. 11.

Club League Teams Battle to 4-4 Tie

With neither team showing a sustained drive, the Schoolmasters and Catholic Foresters battled to a 4 to 4 tie in a posponed Y. M. C. A. Club league game called at the end of the eighth because of darkness at Liberty park yesterday. In addition to allowing the Foresters only five hits, Scoles obtained two singles, both of which figured in the scoring.

National Runner-up Entered in Pool Event

The low board diving championships of the north central Ohio district is assured of a strong cast at Liberty park Sunday.

Russell von Wieder, manager of the pool and director of the tournament, today received the entry of Dud Serwinski of Fremont, former Ohio high school champion who was runner-up in the national interscholastics in Philadelphia last spring, and Earl Christy, a teammate, who was runner-up in the state interscholastics last season.

Serwinski and Christy are rated as two of the best high school divers in the state, and are regarded as serious contenders for the title to be defended by Tony Schadek of Mansfield.

Schultz, another Fremont diving star, has also entered, von Wieder said.

Youth, 15, Wins Junior Honors

Kansan Breaks 98 Targets in Vandalia Event.

VANDALIA — (INS) — The men's and women's amateur clay target championships of North America were at stake today as the class of North America's shotgun toters entered the second day of the American Trapshooting Association's annual five-day festival which concludes with the Grand American on Friday.

In the opening day's shooting four different championships were determined. Rudy Etchen, 15-year-old farm youth from Wichita, Kan., walked off with junior honors by breaking 98 birds out of 100. Mr. and Mrs. John Sanders, Keyser, W. Va., by smashing 379 clays out of 400 won the husband and wife national title and Elston E. Bush, Tallahassee, Fla., broke 192 out of 200 to win the veterans' crown.

Approximately 500 shooters took part in the first day's shooting and officials in charge expected the entry list to grow daily.

BAJAI GIVES UP FOUR HITS AS HE BLANKS FOE, 14-0

Bajai gave up only four hits and struck out 12 as he hurled Jimmy's softball club to a 14 to 0 victory over the Mollica club at the Tappan field yesterday. Bajai, Mellic, Brucato, Shea and Carbetta each collected three hits for the winners.

Zents' Radios swamped the Hermits, 18 to 7, in a postponed Club softball league game at Prospect park yesterday. The box score was turned in too late for publication.

Hubbell Believed Through for Year

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(U.P.)—The talented left arm of "King" Carl Hubbell, New York Giant ace, was in splints today and physicians held out but slight hope that it would swing again this season for the fading National league champions. Dr. Spencer Speed, who removed a piece of ragged bone from Carl's elbow yesterday, said he was getting along fine but that it was too early to forecast his future as a pitcher.

Billy Burke Favorite In Buckeye Open

Pairs With Larimer to Win Pro-Amateur Tourney.

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — The annual open golf tournament got under way at Youngstown Country club today with Billy Burke of Cleveland a favorite by virtue of a brilliant 66 scored with C. E. Larimer of Youngstown in the preliminary pro-amateur best ball event.

The Buckeye classic was expected to draw at least 80 of the state's best golfers—all seeking the title currently held by Phil Perkins of Cleveland.

Burke and Larimer turned in two 33 counts yesterday for a total that shattered par—71—by five strokes. Like other professionals, Burke did not record his individual tally but observers said he registered "about 69."

The Burke-Larimer duo's nearest rival was Andy Velican and Fred Collins of Warren, who carded a brace of 34's for a 68. Jack Thompson and Dr. W. A. Welsh of Youngstown toured the 18 in a joint 69. Gene Marchi, Dayton Miami Valley pro, and Bob Servis, Dayton's former Ohio amateur champion, were tied at 70 with Lloyd Gullickson and Carlin Short of Cleveland.

The initial round of the 72-hole meday play tournament consists of 36 holes.

At the annual banquet last night announcement was made of the selection of Dayton for the 1939 open. The course was not named immediately.

Grange Alves of Cleveland was re-elected president of the Ohio Professional Golfers association. Capt. Charles Clarke of Cleveland was renamed secretary.

Jock Collins of Mansfield Westbrook and Steve Schemine of York Temple, Columbus, Collins' former assistant, finished well down in the pro-amateur, shooting respective scores of 78 and 83 with their partners.

Pittsburgh Steelman Feared in Publinks.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—A strong-armed Pittsburgh steel worker was the most feared man in the field today as 247 pay-as-you-play golfers teed off on final 18-hole qualifying rounds of the national public links golf tournament. He is Andy Szwedko whose par shattering 70 gave him third place in the opening round.

Two golfers who played the easier old Highland Park course yesterday led the way with 68, two under par. They were Pete Doll, a plumbing fixture laborer from Louisville, Ky., and Ed Furgol, 20-year-old Utica, N. Y., metal polisher.

BILL KUHN'S Richland Printers rode into the throne room of The News-Journal Class A golf league at Possum Run yesterday.

Defeating the second-place Goldsmith Clothiers and 1937 champions, 4 to 1, the Printers made their lead safe, and even a shellacking in the final matches next week cannot alter the identity of the league rulers.

Seven Points In Front.

The Printers, who climbed into first place only a couple of weeks ago after spending most of the season in the lower berths of the first division, lengthened their advantage to seven points yesterday.

The Goldsmith club remained in second place, but the DeLuxe Cabs, who slumped badly after setting the pace during the greater part of the season, can overtake the Clothiers next week.

Other positions in the race are also liable to change when the sluggers swing down the curtain next Monday.

The Richland foursome was again paced by Pete Linster yesterday. He rolled out a 35, and the only score to beat his was Carl Kushin's 34. The latter's brilliant medal featured the Matthes Clothiers' climb to within a point of the Big Three Beers and fifth place. The Clothiers, aided by a pair of forfeits, took the Cabbies into camp by a 4 to 1 count.

In the other match, the Yuncker Sports and Big Three Beers battled to a 2 to 2 tie.

High In Scoring.

Following Kushin and Linster in the scoring were Fay Strome of the Big Three Beers, who collected a 36, and Al Kushin of the Sports. Ted Etzel of the Printers and Pete Zeides of the Goldsmiths, who shot identical scores of 37.

Ranked Coast Pair Defeated

Kovacs, Harman Bow to Hunt, Sutter in Upset.

BROOKLINE, Mass. — (INS) — Forced default of the German doubles team and the upset defeat of the fourth ranked American team today marked play in the 57th national men's doubles tennis championship as other seeded stars advanced in routine fashion into the second round.

On the sidelines were Henner Henkel and Georg von Metaxa, their pleas to be permitted to participate turned down on cabled orders from Berlin.

First casualty in the seeded group was the elimination of Frank Kovacs and Bobby Harman, brilliant young Californians. These two classed as one of the best young teams, lost, 2-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4, to unseeded Gilbert Hunt, Washington, D. C., and Ernie Sutter, New Orleans, La.

Generally picked as the ultimate finalists, the American duo of J. Donald Budge and Gene Mako, and the Australian pair, Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, advanced with ease.

MODERN WAY OF MORTGAGE CUTS FINANCE COSTS

New Methods Make It Possible to Build Home at Less Cost Than Before.

Today's low-cost, long-term financing for home-building, or home-buying makes it possible to finance a home with a smaller down payment and at a lower interest rate than ever before in history.

This fact was brought out today by local building groups who are co-operating in a campaign to get the facts on home-building before the public.

Financing costs today in many cases are as much as 85 per cent less than former financing costs, and at the same time today's house because of advances in design and construction offers 25 to 40 per cent more home for the money than did the house of ten or twelve years ago.

From 6 to 15 Per Cent.

Prior to the passage of the National Housing act and the establishment of the time-payment mortgage system, the initial-financing costs of home building ranged from 6 to 15 per cent of the total value of the home, it is pointed out. Under the old system two-thirds or more of the homes purchased required both first and second mortgage financing. On an 80 per cent financing basis, with 20 per cent down payment, a $5,000 first mortgage and a $3,000 second mortgage would have been required on a $10,000 house, conservatively speaking.

Commissions and renewal fees on first mortgages were high and those on second mortgages were higher. Today however, the financing of an 80 per cent single mortgage under the FHA plan can be accomplished for about 2½ per cent of the total value of a home. It is estimated that over a 20 year period up to 85 per cent can be saved under the new plan.

The new system of finance features monthly amortization and a 5 per cent interest rate on the single mortgage. Thus at the end of the period for which the mortgage is to run, the home is owned free and clear, and the owner has usually paid no more than he would have paid for rent. Interest rates were higher under the old system, and the lending institution did not require amortization, with the result that at the maturity date of the mortgage, a man was no closer to completely owning his home than he was when he bought it.

This saving in financing and interest charges is only one of the economies of the modern home. The overall cost of building is less than in the pre-depression era, and the prices of practically all the major building materials is lower.

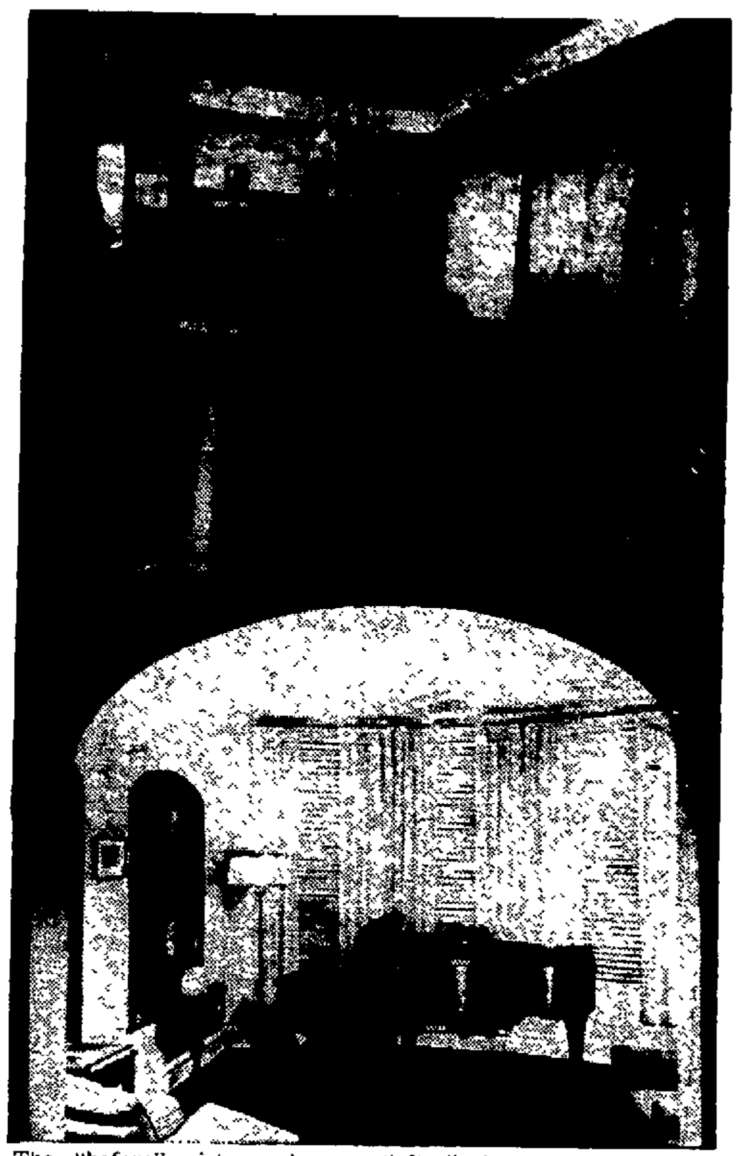
Old Type Pantry Improved With Built-in Features

Efficiency of a serving or butler's pantry in larger houses can be greatly enhanced by incorporating the many new built-in features that are now available to the modern-minded home owner.

This space is ideal for the location of service china closets, linen- and silver-storage space, as well as repositories for brooms, vacuum cleaners, and the other necessary mechanical equipment.

Old serving pantries can be redesigned and new built-in features installed with money obtained from private lending institutions under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing administration.

A Modernized Music Room



The "before" picture shows an old-fashioned music and living room. Note predominence of deep shadows due to badly arranged, insufficient lighting. Also the space-taking sectional bookcases and somber wall and floor coverings. Next regard the "after" view of the same room. The seemingly decorative miracle was achieved at comparatively little cost and completely modernized the room. In addition, the improvement inspired the new owner to discard old furniture and install venetian blinds.

INNOVATIONS ADD EFFICIENCY TO MODERN UTILITY ROOMS

The past two decades have witnessed more and greater improvements in room design and equipment than any other like period in the history of this country. Nowhere in the home has the progress noted been so extensive as in utility rooms, kitchen, and bath.

In the typical kitchen of homes built at or about the turn of the century the sink was usually located on one side of the kitchen and the stove across from it. The ice box was kept out on a porch in most cases. The number of steps necessary in the preparation of three meals was amazing and tiring. Today, by planned arrangement, the chores of the kitchen have been made easy.

Homes of 20 or more years ago had, in most cases, only one bath, no matter how large the family. The tub was cast iron with a thin, easy-to-crack coat of porcelain.

The modern-planned bathroom has built-in cabinets flush with the wall, handsome fixtures. comfortable tub and shower, and ample dressing-room space. Today the average home boasts of more than one bath if there are more than two bedrooms. The presence of the downstairs lavatory means greater convenience and uses space that in most cases would otherwise be wasted.

Existing houses can be modernized, utility rooms redesigned and equipped with funds obtained from private lending institutions under the Federal Housing administration's property improvement credit plan.

Building Permits

Building permits issued at city hall since Monday, Aug. 15, include:

Raymond L. Beal, 326 Bartley avenue, residence $4,500; Clyde Ruhl, 45 Beethoven street, garage $100; Victor Ohley, 432 Wood street, residence $5,500, garage $100; S. B. White, 206 Gerke street, garage $100; Paul G. Snyder, 173 Lind avenue, residing residence $400.

SNEEZE HURTS

Company Loses Banner When Private Sniffles at Wrong Time.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — (AP) — A sneeze cost company "F" of the Citizens Military Training Camp at Fort Sheridan the inspection victory banner.

It seems that company "G" won the coveted banner because a company F private sneezed at the wrong time. Company G rated 442.1 points and company F got 441.5

GLASS BLOCKS BRIGHTEN ROOM

A room, particularly a living room or study, may be made more cheerful and the lighting improved by the use of glass blocks around windows.

Three rows of blocks above the window and additional blocks at either end will allow plenty of light to penetrate.

Room-lighting improvements may be financed with the proceeds of a Property Improvement Credit Plan loan insured by the Federal Housing administration.

REMOVING OLD PAINT

To remove cold water paints from wall surfaces, use hot water to which some ammonia has been added.

Save your kitchen towels this way: Place a roll of paper toweling near the sink. Use the paper to clean greasy pans, to wipe up spilled foods and to wipe out the sink strainer.

Veterans' Net Reign Near End

News-Journal Tournament Uncovers Promising Junior Material.

THE one think that The News-Journal's city championship tennis tournament proved this year is that the domination of the eliminations by the veteran clan of stars is near the end.

Young players figured more prominently in the tournament this year than ever, and the future appears to hold much in store for them.

Shows Promise.

Particularly successful in the senior men's singles competition this year is Bob Keefe, an 18-year-old Mansfield high school senior, who shows signs of developing into one of the better racquet wielders in the city.

Keefe has been playing the court game only three years, but he has advanced to the semi-finals of the men's singles. He lacks experience, of course, but his game has improved to a point where he is a threat in any tournament.

Keefe has been responsible for the major upset in the tournament. His defeat of the heavily-favored John Foltz knocked one of the perenniel title contenders out of the picture, and he gave another fine performance when he took Frank Gadfield into camp.

Gene Rudolph and Bob Ellison, to mention others, are promising tennis material. Rudolph won The News-Journal junior title Sunday by defeating Ellison.

Loses to Moore.

Ellison also competed in the senior men's singles, and remained in the elimination until the quarter-final round yesterday when he fell before Thornton Moore, who will meet another young threat, Bob Spear, in the top bracket semi-finals.

Moore defeated Ellison, 6-0, 3-6, 7-5, at the Woodland court yesterday. Bob Enos and Ellsworth Slabaugh were also scheduled yesterday, but the match was postponed because of darkness.

Headlining Wednesday's program at the Woodland court will be a men's single semi-final match between Moore and Spear. The match is billed at 4:30 p m.

Helen to Retire?

NEW YORK—(INS)—With a hint she may be finished with tournament tennis for all time after a career unparalleled in the history of the sport, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody today announced her withdrawal from the national championships to be staged next month at Forest Hills. In a letter to the United States Lawn Tennis association, Mrs. Moody blamed an attack of neuritis for her action.

Stage Playoff Finals Today

Fairground Games Conclude Baseball Program.

The city recreation baseball program for junior players was to be brought to a close at the Fairground today with the finals of the Shaughnessy playoffs.

The Intermediate league finals pitted the league champion Tigers against the Athletics, and the title winning giants tackled the Reds in the Junior league finals.

A two-hit pitching performance by Freiheit enabled the Tigers to defeat the Senators, 4 to 1, the young pitching star striking out seven and walking only one. Both hits permitted by Freiheit were obtained by Henke, who collected a double and single Eisele and Beck led the Tigers' attack.

Phillips gave up four hits as he hurled the Athletics to a 3 to 2 victory over the Yanks, and struck out seven. Martin and Sheriff paced the Athletics with two hits apiece

Allowing only one hit, Nameth hurled the Reds to a 7 to 0 victory over the Cubs and although they were beaten, 11 to 9, the Giants won on a forfeit from the Dodgers, who used an ineligible player. Romano hit a home run for the Dodgers.

THE second and final half of the City Class A softball league race was concluded yesterday with the representatives of Johns and Prospect park sharing the championship.

A play-off to determine the league championship is the next thing on the schedule, and it will involve the Johnnies and Prospectors Dates have not been set, however.

Trims Sportsmen.

Johns park, first half champion, brought its regular schedule to a close in an auspicious fashion by trimming the Richland county Fish & Game representatives of North park, 6 to 2, at North park, while Prospect lost a chance to win the title outright by dropping a 11 to 8 decision to Liberty park on the winners' diamond.

Jim Fullager's pitching was a major factor in the victory which enabled the Johnnies to gain a share of the second half gonfalon. Scattering six hits, Fullager struck out nine and did not issue a run after the first inning in the game halted at the end of the eighth because of darkness.

Balbaugh's triple, an error and Henrich's double gave the Sportsmen their only runs in the opening frame

Making his first appearance since early in the season when he suffered a broken finger, Lefty Garver also pitched well, and the Johnnies were unable to do any real damage until the fifth when Bob Bride's double enabled them to take a 3 to 2 lead.

Bride tied Ted Frisbee of Prospect park for the home run championship of the league in the second inning when he blasted out No. 5.

Harry Ross, Johns park's third sacker, also poled a home run, and it was probably the longest hit at North park this season. Harry parked the ball into the creek in centerfield in the eighth with the sacks empty

Liberty park enjoyed two big innings to defeat the Prospectors. The Liberties hung up four runs in the opening inning, but they relinquished the lead in the third when Prospect tallied thrice to go ahead by a 5 to 4 margin.

Prospect held a 6 to 5 lead going into the last of the seventh, the inning in which Liberty put the clincher on the tilt with a five-run rally.

Home Runs Cap Rally.

Featuring the game-winning outbursts were home runs by Hummel and Vogel. Each one came with a runner on the sacks

The game was a free-hitting affair, with each club obtaining 14 safeties. Kuelling led the winners wtih three blows, and Falk garnered a trio for Prospect

Incidentally, both defeats suffered by Prospect in the second half were administered by the Liberties, and the Johnnies' two setbacks were handed out by the team with which they share the title

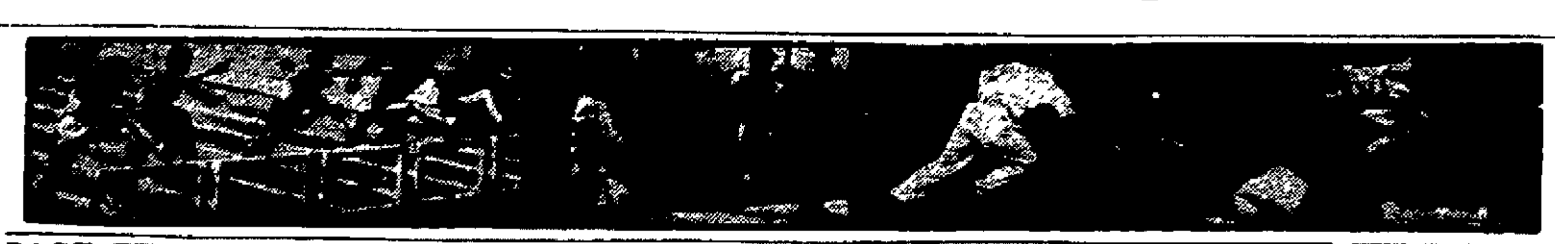
SAM SNEAD DEFEATS COOPER IN PLAY-OFF

TORONTO, Ont — (INS) — Sam Snead, West Virginia's golf wizard, today possessed $1,000 and the Canadian open golf title to keep him in the forefront as the season's biggest money winner

In a 27-hole play-off, Snead beat Lighthorse Harry Cooper, defending champion from Chicago, 101 to 106. Each had 277 at the end of the regulation 72 holes and for the first 18 holes of the playoff, both shot 67.



These Rams Get Ready to Ramble for Cleveland

Bobby Feller Loses 'Box Office Magic'; Only 1,500 See Him Beaten By White Sox

BOSTON, Mass.—(UP)—Bob Feller, a raw-boned kid just a year out of high school, today had gained a complete and liberal education in the one-sided sports world where only a winner counts

The toast of a baseball mad nation and the game's greatest drawing card when he was blazing a fast ball past the American league's outstanding hitters, Feller realized as the Cleveland Indians came here to open a series with the Boston Red Sox that he was just a youngster who had been lost in the shuffle of a sport that makes heroes overnight and breaks them just as suddenly.

Feller was beaten 4 to 2 by the sixth place Chicago White Sox yesterday at Cleveland as the Indians concluded a disastrous home stay. The loss was the youngster's eighth of the campaign as against 12 triumphs.

Feller had one bad inning, the eighth, and it cost him the victory. The defeat was incidental, however. The important thing was that only 1,500 fans witnessed the game, a turnout that would have been equalled regardless of who the Cleveland moundsman was and adequate proof that the Iowa farm boy no longer is "box office magic."

For seven innings Feller pitched superb ball. Over that stretch he did not issue a base on balls and held a 2 to 1 lead. Then came the fatal eighth.

A single by Joe Kuhel started the trouble. Another single by Gerald Walker and a walk to Luke Appling filled the bases with two men out. Then little Mike Kreevich broke up the game with a triple to deep center.

The first White Sox run came in the sixth inning and the Indians made their counters in the third and sixth rounds.

The loss left Cleveland only one game in front of the third-place Boston club. The Indians must gain at least an even break in today's double-header to retain the runner-up position.

Mel Harder and Denny Galehouse were slated for mound duty for Cleveland with Fritz Ostermueller and Jack Wilson opposing them.

SIGNS OF--AUTUMN!

Signs of — autumn! Yessiree, they're here, and it won't be long before Mansfield will move into the stands to watch 'em battle on the gridiron.

The season is already here for one Mansfield team — the Bronchos, who will carry Mansfield's banner on the semi-pro battlefields next fall Clyde Adams will operate the team, with Rabbit Siler as coach and Jim Heiser as business manager.

This year marks Siler's debut as a coach, but he has been a player for many years. Siler played pro ball in this city several years, and previously played at Ashland high school and college.

Practice sessions are already being held by the club for the first game tentatively set for Sunday, Sept. 11.

Club League Teams Battle to 4-4 Tie

With neither team showing a sustained drive, the Schoolmasters and Catholic Foresters battled to a 4 to 4 tie in a posponed Y. M. C. A. Club league game called at the end of the eighth because of darkness at Liberty park yesterday. In addition to allowing the Foresters only five hits, Scoles obtained two singles, both of which figured in the scoring.

Youth, 15, Wins Junior Honors

Kansan Breaks 98 Targets in Vandalia Event.

VANDALIA — (INS)—The men's and women's amateur clay target championships of North America were at stake today as the class of North America's shotgun toters entered the second day of the American Trapshooting Association's annual five-day festival which concludes with the Grand American on Friday.

In the opening day's shooting four different championships were determined. Rudy Etchen, 15-year-old farm youth from Wichita, Kan., walked off with junior honors by breaking 98 birds out of 100. Mr. and Mrs. John Sanders, Keyser, W. Va., by smashing 379 clays out of 400 won the husband and wife national title and Elston E. Bush, Tallahassee, Fla., broke 192 out of 200 to win the veterans' crown.

Approximately 500 shooters took part in the first day's shooting and officials in charge expected the entry list to grow daily.

BAJAI GIVES UP FOUR HITS AS HE BLANKS FOE, 14-0

Bajai gave up only four hits and struck out 12 as he hurled Jimmy's softball club to a 14 to 0 victory over the Mollica club at the Tappan field yesterday. Bajai, Mellic, Brucato, Shea and Carbetta each collected three hits for the winners.

National Runner-up Entered in Pool Event

The low board diving championships of the north central Ohio district is assured of a strong cast at Liberty park Sunday.

Russell von Wieder, manager of the pool and director of the tournament, today received the entry of Dud Serwinski of Fremont, former Ohio high school champion who was runner-up in the national interscholastics in Philadelphia last spring, and Earl Christy, a teammate, who was runner-up in the state interscholastics last season.

Serwinski and Christy are rated as two of the best high school divers in the state, and are regarded as serious contenders for the title to be defended by Tony Schadek of Mansfield.

Schultz, another Fremont diving star, has also entered, von Wieder said.

Hubbell Believed Through for Year

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(UP)—The talented left arm of "King" Carl Hubbell, New York Giant ace, was in splints today and physicians held out but slight hope that it would swing again this season for the fading National league champions. Dr. Spencer Speed, who removed a piece of ragged bone from Carl's elbow yesterday, said he was getting along fine but that it was too early to forecast his future as a pitcher.

Billy Burke Favorite In Buckeye Open

Pairs With Larimer to Win Pro-Amateur Tourney.

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP)—The annual open golf tournament got under way at Youngstown Country club today with Billy Burke of Cleveland a favorite by virtue of a brilliant 66 scored with C. E. Larimer of Youngstown in the preliminary pro-amateur best ball event.

The Buckeye classic was expected to draw at least 80 of the state's best golfers—all seeking the title currently held by Phil Perkins of Cleveland.

Burke and Larimer turned in two 33 counts yesterday for a total that shattered par—71—by five strokes. Like other professionals, Burke did not record his individual tally but observers said he registered "about 69."

The Burke-Larimer duo's nearest rival was Andy Velican and Fred Collins of Warren, who carded a brace of 34's for a 68. Jack Thompson and Dr. W. A. Welsh of Youngstown toured the 18 in a joint 69. Gene Marchi, Dayton Miami Valley pro, and Bob Servis, Dayton's former Ohio amateur champion, were tied at 70 with Lloyd Gullickson and Carlin Short of Cleveland.

The initial round of the 72-hole meday play tournament consists of 36 holes.

At the annual banquet last night announcement was made of the selection of Dayton for the 1939 open. The course was not named immediately.

Grange Alves of Cleveland was re-elected president of the Ohio Professional Golfers association. Capt. Charles Clarke of Cleveland was renamed secretary.

Jock Collins of Mansfield Westbrook and Steve Schemine of York Temple, Columbus. Collins' former assistant, finished well down in the pro-amateur, shooting respective scores of 78 and 83 with their partners.

Pittsburgh Steelman Feared in Publinks.

CLEVELAND—(UP)—A strong-armed Pittsburgh steel worker was the most feared man in the field today as 247 pay-as-you-play golfers teed off on final 18-hole qualifying rounds of the national public links golf tournament. He is Andy Szwedko whose par shattering 70 gave him third place in the opening round.

Two golfers who played the easier old Highland Park course yesterday led the way with 68, two under par. They were Pete Doll, a plumbing fixture laborer from Louisville, Ky., and Ed Furgol, 20-year-old Utica, N. Y., metal polisher.

BILL KUHN'S Richland Printers rode into the throne room of The News-Journal Class A golf league at Possum Run yesterday.

Defeating the second-place Goldsmith Clothiers and 1937 champions, 4 to 1, the Printers made their lead safe, and even a shellacking in the final matches next week cannot alter the identity of the league rulers.

Seven Points In Front.

The Printers, who climbed into first place only a couple of weeks ago after spending most of the season in the lower berths of the first division, lengthened their advantage to seven points yesterday.

The Goldsmith club remained in second place, but the DeLuxe Cabs, who slumped badly after setting the pace during the greater part of the season, can overtake the Clothiers next week.

Other positions in the race are also liable to change when the sluggers swing down the curtain next Monday.

The Richland foursome was again paced by Pete Linster yesterday He rolled out a 35, and the only score to beat his was Carl Kushin's 34. The latter's brilliant medal featured the Matthes Clothiers' climb to within a point of the Big Three Beers and fifth place. The Clothiers, aided by a pair of forfeits, took the Cabbies into camp by a 4 to 1 count.

In the other match, the Yuncker Sports and Big Three Beers battled to a 2 to 2 tie

High In Scoring.

Following Kushin and Linster in the scoring were Fay Strome of the Big Three Beers, who collected a 36, and Al Kushin of the Sports. Ted Etzel of the Printers and Pete Zeides of the Goldsmiths, who shot identical scores of 37.

Ranked Coast Pair Defeated

Kovacs, Harman Bow to Hunt, Sutter in Upset.

BROOKLINE, Mass. — (INS) — Forced default of the German doubles team and the upset defeat of the fourth ranked American team today marked play in the 57th national men's doubles tennis championship as other seeded stars advanced in routine fashion into the second round.

On the sidelines were Henner Henkel and Georg von Metaxa, their pleas to be permitted to participate turned down on cabled orders from Berlin.

First casualty in the seeded group was the elimination of Frank Kovacs and Bobby Harman, brilliant young Californians. These two classed as one of the best young teams, lost, 2-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4, to unseeded Gilbert Hunt, Washington, D. C., and Ernie Sutter, New Orleans. La

Generally picked as the ultimate finalists, the American duo of J. Donald Budge and Gene Mako, and the Australian pair, Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, advanced with ease.

MODERN WAY OF MORTGAGE CUTS FINANCE COSTS

New Methods Make It Possible to Build Home at Less Cost Than Before.

Today's low-cost, long-term financing for home-building, or home-buying makes it possible to finance a home with a smaller down payment and at a lower interest rate than ever before in history.

This fact was brought out today by local building groups who are co-operating in a campaign to get the facts on home-building before the public.

Financing costs today in many cases are as much as 85 per cent less than former financing costs, and at the same time today's house because of advances in design and construction offers 25 to 40 per cent more home for the money than did the house of ten or twelve years ago.

From 6 to 15 Per Cent.

Prior to the passage of the National Housing act and the establishment of the time-payment mortgage system, the initial-financing costs of home building ranged from 6 to 15 per cent of the total value of the home, it is pointed out. Under the old system two-thirds or more of the homes purchased required both first and second mortgage financing. On an 80 per cent financing basis, with 20 per cent down payment, a $5,000 first mortgage and a $3,000 second mortgage would have been required on a $10,000 house, conservatively speaking.

Commissions and renewal fees on first mortgages were high and those on second mortgages were higher. Today however, the financing of an 80 per cent single mortgage under the FHA plan can be accomplished for about 2½ per cent of the total value of a home. It is estimated that over a 20 year period up to 85 per cent can be saved under the new plan.

The new system of finance features monthly amortization and a 5 per cent interest rate on the single mortgage. Thus at the end of the period for which the mortgage is to run, the home is owned free and clear, and the owner has usually paid no more than he would have paid for rent. Interest rates were higher under the old system, and the lending institution did not require amortization, with the result that at the maturity date of the mortgage, a man was no closer to completely owning his home than he was when he bought it.

This saving in financing and interest charges is only one of the economies of the modern home. The overall cost of building is less than in the pre-depression era, and the prices of practically all the major building materials is lower.

Old Type Pantry Improved With Built-in Features

Efficiency of a serving or butler's pantry in larger houses can be greatly enhanced by incorporating the many new built-in features that are now available to the modern-minded home owner.

This space is ideal for the location of service china closets, linen- and silver-storage space, as well as repositories for brooms, vacuum cleaners, and the other necessary mechanical equipment.

Old serving pantries can be redesigned and new built-in features installed with money obtained from private lending institutions under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing administration.

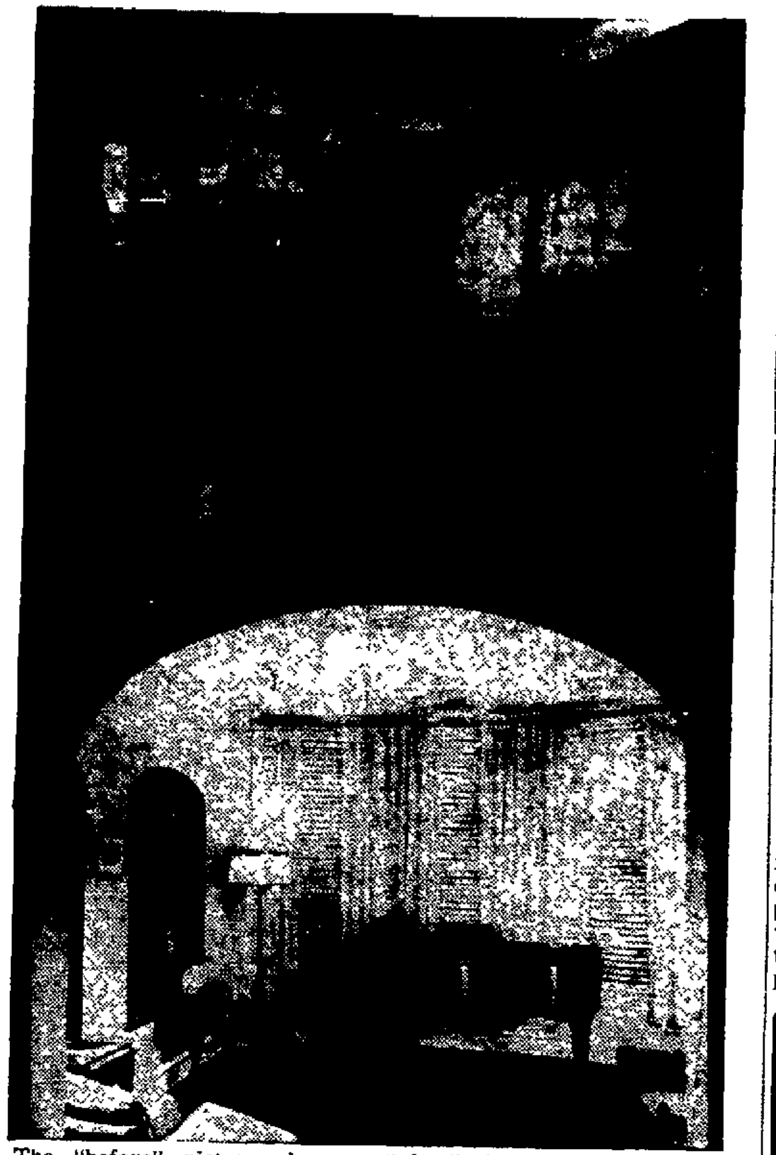
A Modernized Music Room



The "before" picture shows an old-fashioned music and living room. Note predominence of deep shadows due to badly arranged, insufficient lighting. Also the space-taking sectional bookcases and somber wall and floor coverings. Next regard the "after" view of the same room. The seemingly decorative miracle was achieved at comparatively little cost and completely modernized the room. In addition, the improvement inspired the new owner to discard old furniture and install venetian blinds.

INNOVATIONS ADD EFFICIENCY TO MODERN UTILITY ROOMS

The past two decades have witnessed more and greater improvements in room design and equipment than any other like period in the history of this country. Nowhere in the home has the progress noted been so extensive as in utility rooms, kitchen, and bath.

In the typical kitchen of homes built at or about the turn of the century the sink was usually located on one side of the kitchen and the stove across from it. The ice box was kept out on a porch in most cases. The number of steps necessary in the preparation of three meals was amazing and tiring. Today, by planned arrangement, the chores of the kitchen have been made easy.

Homes of 20 or more years ago had, in most cases, only one bath, no matter how large the family. The tub was cast iron with a thin, easy-to-crack coat of porcelain.

The modern-planned bathroom has built-in cabinets flush with the wall, handsome fixtures, comfortable tub and shower, and ample dressing-room space. Today the average home boasts of more than one bath if there are more than two bedrooms. The presence of the downstairs lavatory means greater convenience and uses space that in most cases would otherwise be wasted.

Existing houses can be modernized, utility rooms redesigned and equipped with funds obtained from private lending institutions under the Federal Housing administration's property improvement credit plan.

Buy a Home
"WE always thought that building a home would be complicated."
This young couple found, that contrary to their idea, it's easy to build a home. They did less "shopping" for the home of their dreams than she did for her fur coat.
Here we provide a "one-stop" service for prospective home owners. From plans to actual building, everything is taken care of simply, clearly.

PAM—Odd Question!

By A. W. Brewerton

BOB PARKER IS THE FRIEND OF GORDON IN THE F. B. I. WHO IS TO KEEP PAM INFORMED OF DAVID'S SAFETY!
IS HE IN GREAT DANGER? —WELL —PERHAPS— BUT DON'T WORRY ABOUT THAT, MISS POTTER — DAVID GORDON WILL TAKE CARE OF HIMSELF SOMETIMES I THINK HE IS ALMOST TOO COURAGEOUS —TOO BRAVE!
HE IS DOING SOME SWELL WORK FOR THE F. B. I. —FOR HIS COUNTRY, OVER THERE —I WISH IT WERE POSSIBLE TO MAKE THAT PUBLIC —BUT IT JUST CANNOT BE DONE! — — NOW, I'D LIKE TO TALK TO YOU ABOUT A FAR DIFFERENT MATTER;
— THIS WILL NO DOUBT BE A GREAT SURPRISE TO YOU! TELL ME, DO YOU KEEP A RECORD OF YOUR BANK DEPOSITS FOR COLONEL CAREY?
WHY —WHY, YES —I'VE A RECORD OF THEM!
WELL, ON AUGUST 19 YOU MADE A DEPOSIT OF SEVENTY-SIX DOLLARS, MOST OF IT IN CASH — CAN YOU FIND OUT THE SOURCE OF THAT MONEY — — FROM WHOM IT CAME?
PAM IS INDEED SURPRISED BY THE STATEMENT AND QUERY!

PIVOTAL ISSUES PACE LIST IN GENERAL CLIMB

Market Resumes Recovery Movement on Modest Scale After Yesterday's Drop.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—The stock market resumed its recovery movement on a modest scale today, following the previous session's slight decline after six successive advances.

Several pivotal issues gained a point or more, but the majority of price changes were limited to fractional proportions.

Motors, as in last week's sustained advance, led the general list toward higher levels. Steels, rubbers, building shares and blue-chips also chalked up fair-sized gains.

Bethlehem renewed its fight with U. S. Steel for leadership of the steel group, selling above big steel again after lagging for a week or so. Bethlehem climbed more than a point, while U. S. Steel showed a small fractional advance, along with Republic and Youngstown.

Chrysler moved up more than a point in the motors, and General Motors did nearly as well. Others to show gains of a point or more were Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Johns-Manville, Western Union, Eastman Kodak, Libbey-Owens-Ford and Westinghouse Electric.

SPECTATOR HIT IN GUN BATTLE

Bank Examiner Wounded In Youngstown Hold Up.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—(INS)—William James, 35, a federal bank examiner, today was in critical condition with bullet wounds received when he was a spectator at a gun battle between a bandit and a druggist.

James was wounded in the abdomen when he entered the drug store of C. V. Dobson while a holdup was in progress. The robber had forced Dobson to turn over $150 in cash and had started to flee when Dobson fired several shots at him. The bandit returned the fire, striking James. The wounded man's wife was a spectator.

company, $7,425; Duffy and Myers, $7,364, and the Zediker Masonry company, $7,275.

Proposals on the plumbing installation were submitted by the Zediker Masonry campany, $618; J. W. Ness, $794; Charles Hoffman company, $795; Parkinson company, $640.

On the heating equipment, the Zediker Masonry company bid $813; J. W. Ness $564, Charles Hoffman $564. On the alternate equipment Zediker bid $828, Ness $728, and Hoffman $717.

Electric wiring proposals were submitted by Ness at $259.67 and the National Electric company $325.

Specifications on the construction of the new station call for a brick engine house with a 40-foot frontage and 50 feet deep to be erected on the site of the present station on North Main street at the Erie railroad.

The building, which will replace the 30-year-old frame structure, is to house one piece of equipment and will have a dormitory accommodating six men, and an office.

HOLD OUTING

Knights Templar Stage Picnic and Corn Roast Tomorrow.

A picnic and corn roast for members of Mansfield Commandery No. 21, Knights Templar, will be held Wednesday afternoon and evening at North Lake park.

A program of games and contests have been planned for the women and children during the afternoon, and other entertainment has been arranged for children. The outing will begin at 4 p. m. and will be followed at 6 p. m. with a picnic supper and corn roast.

The commandery will have members of the Knights Templar band as their guests. During the evening the band, directed by J. Merton Holcombs, will present a program of music.

Arrangements for the outing are in charge of a committee headed by Ed Becker.

ADDS $49,000 ROAD PROJECT

County Authorizes State to Include Highway Building in WPA Program.

Richland county commissioners today had authorized the state highway department to include a $49,000 highway project in the county's $1,000,000 WPA blanket road and bridge program.

The project, which is expected to be under way within three weeks, probably will put about 100 men to work in Springfield and Troy townships, County Engineer Howard C. Sword said.

The project calls for a $14,788 contribution in state funds for construction of about five miles of state route 683 between the Morrow county line and route 30S. The proposed improvement is on the Shelby-Johnsville road which recently was taken over by the state highway department.

Approximately 340 men are employed on WPA road projects in the county and another 100 may get jobs late this week when a project in Butler township is scheduled to get under way, the county engineer said.

Sword said he hoped to complete construction on 10 miles of county roads under WPA projects before cold weather halts road work.

RUN OVER TWICE BY CAR DRIVER

Clevelander Injured Following Clash Over Girl Friend.

CLEVELAND — (UP) —Theodore Fleming, 33, was held by police here today after he allegedly drove his automobile twice over the body of Joseph Detelich, 27.

Detelich was in a serious condition at a Cleveland hospital with fractured ribs and head cuts.

Witnesses told police Fleming became angered when a girl companion refused to leave Detelich to go riding with him.

'PURGE' ISSUES FLAME RED HOT IN TWO STATES

Tydings of Maryland Puts New Vigor in Campaign; 'Red' Charges Hurled.

(By International News Service)

Developments in the political situation, fanned red-hot by President Roosevelt's personal efforts to purge the senate of some members for their anti-New Deal votes, broke on many fronts today.

In Maryland:

The campaign of Senator Millard E. Tydings, personally marked by the president in his purge, increased in intensity with Tydings making the president's action in "telling the voters to elect his opponent, Rep. David Lewis, the real issue.

Both candidates are using the radio to air their charges. Last night Lewis accused Tydings used the very New Deal agencies he has criticized for personal gain. He said the senator was one of the first Marylanders to receive a loan—for $12,000 which has now been repaid—from the Home Owners' Loan corporation. He enumerated other benefits he claimed the senator received from federal agencies.

Denies Lobby Charge.

Meanwhile Tydings denied charges Lewis made Sunday that he had "lobbied for big business" in urging sale of 125 government ships to the Boston Iron and Metal works. He said Lewis' charges were "a tissue of lies and misrepresentations."

In Georgia:

Senator Walter F. George, another senator on the Roosevelt purge list, told a meeting of voters that Thomas Corcoran and Benjamin Cohen, presidential advisers, were members of a group of communists who are working for his defeat. He also accused the president of going far beyond his authority in his recent Canadian speech when he pledged American aid to Canada if that country should be invaded.

In Hyde Park, N. Y.:

WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, after visiting the president, condemned solicitation of campaign contributions from WPA workers. He also denied that any relief worker has lost his job because he didn't vote "right."

In Washington:

The civil service commission ruled that civil service workers may take "no active part in management of a political campaign." The commission restricted their activities to "voting and to expressing privately their political opinions."

Unclassified employes, appointed by the president, the commission reminded, are forbidden by law to use their official authority to coerce any people or to solicit or receive contributions for political purposes from other federal workers.

In Mississippi:

Six members of the national house of representatives faced the electorate today in the Democratic primary. The primary is equivalent to election in Mississippi. No New Deal issues were involved. Rep. Whittington, the seventh member of this state's delegation, was unopposed.

NOTICE TO TAX PAYERS

Notice is hereby given that the returns and assessments of real property of Richland County, Ohio for the tax year 1938 have been equalized and revised by the Richland County Board of Revision. The values are completed and are open for public inspection in the Real Estate Department of the County Auditor's office, Mansfield, Ohio.

Complaint against any values or assessments of real property, except values and assessments made by the Tax Commission of Ohio will be heard by the Richland County Board of Revision at the Court House in Mansfield, Ohio at its next regular meeting.

Complaints must be made in writing by the owner of the property on blanks furnished by the County Auditor and filed at the Auditor's office on or before the time limited for payment of taxes for the first half year.

Many property owners are of the opinion that real estate is appraised at a certain per cent of its true value. This is erroneous as the Constitution and Law of Ohio provides that real estate be appraised at 100% of its true value. In making the present equalization of values the Board of Revision has attempted to carry out the law to a reasonable basis.

The willingness of a complainant to sell property at the assessed value does not necessarily constitute a reason for reduction nor does the purchase price of a property at a forced sale necessarily fix the tax value. The law requires consideration of all factors and the Board must consider rental sales reproduction costs asking price book values insurance values, amount of mortgages etc.

Since the last actual reappraisal in 1925 a blanket reduction of approximately 30% has been allowed on all real estate values in the County. Since that date a great many changes in the value of real estate have occurred. It is the object of this appraisal to recognize these changes and to assess each property on as fair basis as possible.

The Auditor, upon request will furnish to any person the assessment of any tract, lot or parcel of real estate upon receipt of postage and last tax bill.

ELKS SET FOR SECOND OUTING

Lodge Picnic To Be Held Thursday At Spiker's Grove.

The second picnic and outing of the summer for members of the Elks lodge will be held Thursday afternoon and evening at Spiker's grove, Marion avenue road, Bert B. Kuhn, lodge secretary, announced today.

A corn roast and picnic dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m., and the afternoon and evening will be spent in playing cards, kittenball and horseshoes. A third outing is being planned for a later date, according to Kuhn.

Arrangements for Thursday's meeting are in charge of a committee made up of F. L. Kohler, chairman, D. G. Ogden, Dr. C. P. Hien, and Leo Yuncker.

DEVICES SHOW HUMAN 'KNOCKS'

er seen a picture of your stomach, you'll be scandalized when you do. It won't conform to your ideas of a conventional stomach at all, but will look like a misshapen fishhook, with bulges hither and yon. But if there is a cancer or ulcer lurking in the background, there'll be a sort of break or vacant place in the picture.

Even if you're the type that woudn't spare a brother a dime, you've probably got a bigger heart than you think you have. It looms up big and white in the picture, and if it's oversized or in the wrong place or has a valvular condition, the picture is pretty sure to show it. But those two old meanies, coronary thrombosis and angina pectoris elude the camera's eye.

If there are light spots in your gall bladder, you've got gravel in your pit—gall stones to you; if there are white rings at the end of the lower arm or wrist bones, chances are you've got lead poisoning, rickets or scurvey and the rings are deposits. And if you have a bowel obstruction, try and get it in the lower bowel so that the machine may picture it.

The fluoroscope is a lot more interesting for the operator, because he can look right in through layers of flesh and muscle and get a living, motion-picture view of things. Then when he locates the seat of trouble, it's a simple matter to place the patient under the diagnostic machine and take a still picture of it—or maybe you'd call it a close-up.

Treatment Machines, Too.

There are two treatment machines, one for deep therapy and one for superficial treatments. The "deep" means deep inside of you where the powerful healing rays penetrate, while the "superficial" means just that—treatment on the surface. The latter, a business-like concern on wheels, is for the treatment of skin diseases.

The deep therapy instrument is an imposing one, taking up most of a small room, all black and shining chromium. It is used primarily for cancer treatments, and has been found effective in the treatment of infections, such as mastoids, sinus, boles and erysipelas, and may provide relief for arthritis and rheumatism. It has been used for a number of years for tuberculosis, goitre, brain tumors and glandular diseases.

There are a great many things that can't be "picked up" by either fluoroscope or diagnostic machine, but may be traced through clinical pathology in the hospital laboratory, by an analysis of the blood, bacteria or serum.

In addition to the new electrical equipment (which cost about $16,000 and was made by the Westinghouse Electrical and Manufacturing company at Long Island), General hospital had added two specialists to its house staff.

Dr. Henry Stiles, graduate of Western Reserve and who came to Mansfield several weeks ago from Lakeside hospital, Cleveland, where he was assistant Roentgenologist, will operate the new equipment and serve as consultant. He is a member of the Cleveland Radiological Society and has been certified by the American Board of Radiology as a specialist and consultant in x-ray.

Dr. Burr Hathaway, who comes to Mansfield from the Children's hospital at Akron, is a fellow of the American Society of Chemical Pathologists, and has been certified by the American Board of Pathology as a specialist in pathological anatomy and chemical pathology.

The new equipment and the addition of the two specialists to the house staff of General hospital has given the Mansfield institution a new place among the country's hospitals, according to Superintendent A. O. Fonkalsrud.

OPEN MEETINGS

RELIEF FINANCE PLAN UP TONIGHT

Council to Act on Legislation Calling for Issuance of Notes for $120,000.

Meeting in special session tonight, city council will consider legislation authorizing the borrowing of $120,000 under a dual note issuing plan as a means of financing the city's relief burden for the balance of this year.

The legislation being prepared today by City Solicitor Marion D. Ward asks council to authorize city officials to make application to the state tax commission for the borrowing under two separate plans.

The first calls for the issuance of notes against 70 per cent of anticipated collection of delinquent taxes which in turn will be used to match funds borrowed from the state through the issuance of notes against 90 per cent of anticipated state taxes.

Under the plan the city will borrow approximately $60,000 to $70,000 for from anticipated collection of delinquent taxes which will be used for matching purposes, Ward said.

Besides numerous petitions on file with Council Clerk William J. Beer, council also will be asked to approve final legislation authorizing the paving of Forest avenue from Marion avenue to Bartley avenue.

MEXICO GIVEN 2ND U. S. PROTEST

Government Studies New Attack on Oil Seizures.

MEXICO CITY—(U.P.)—A second United States note regarding Mexican expropriation of American-owned farm lands was studied by government officials today.

The new note was sent here by Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican ambassador to Washington, who received it during an interview with Secretary of State Cordell Hull. Its contents will be made public simultaneously here and in Washington on Friday.

It was generally believed that the note contained a reaffirmation of the United States' belief that international law should be the basis of settling controversies between nations.

MOTORMAN GETS BLAME IN CRASH

Violated Rule, Says Report On N. Y. Subway Tragedy.

NEW YORK —(AP)— A transit commission report today blamed Motorman Salvatore Cota, 46, for New York City's worst subway crash in a decade.

Cota and a passenger were killed and 51 persons injured yesterday when the train he was driving crashed into the rear of another train that had made an emergency stop at the Interborough Rapid Transit company's station at 116th street and Lexington avenue.

William G. Fullen chairman of the commission, said Cota had violated a company rule that no train should enter a station until the train ahead had completely cleared it.

The treasurer and his staff have collected nearly $171,000, it was reported.

PROBE BURGLARY

ASHLAND — Broken window glass and possible finger prints were the clues left to Sheriff H. F. Wallet toward solving the burglary of a county tool house north of Nankin early this week.

The thieves took seven gallons of oil, three shovels, two picks and a pair of boots.

KIWANIANS TO HEAR BLECKER

Head Of Racing Commission Will Speak To Club Thursday.

Atty. George H. Blecker of Mansfield, chairman of the Ohio Racing commission, will address members of the Kiwanis club Thursday noon at their luncheon meeting at the Westbrook Country club.

Blecker, recently reappointed to the commission by Gov. Martin L. Davey, will speak on "Following the Ponies." S. Glenn Vinson will be program chairman of the meeting.

Following the luncheon, members will meet the Akron Kiwanis club in an inter-city golf match. Harry Finefrock is in charge of the pairings.

WAITS APPROVAL

Ashland Requests State to OK Bond Issue Vote.

ASHLAND—Miss Lottie Westover, city director of finance, is waiting word here of the appeal to the state taxing commission which will determine whether this city will hold a special election to vote on the issue of raising $165,000 for sewer line extensions and the building of a new plant.

If the approval is obtained, Ashlanders will go to the polls Sept. 21 to vote on the general taxation bond issue which will mean the improvement of the local sewage system, which the state department of health has deemed unsatisfactory for Ashland's needs.

With the $165,000 raised by the local bond issue and the $135,000 granted by PWA, it has been estimated that it will require 25 years to retire the indebtedness.

2 FACE COURT FOR ASSAULT

Jail Sentence Suspended In One Case, Fine In Other.

Two Mansfield men pleaded guilty to charges of assault and battery in municipal court yesterday.

Sam Pesano, rear of 273 North Main street, was assessed $10 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail. Robert Hancock, Crawford road, was fined $10 and costs. Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch suspended the jail sentence in Pesano's case on condition of good behavior and also suspended Hancock's fine on the same condition.

Pesano was arrested on a warrant signed by Christ Toney, whose address was not given. Charges against Hancock were filed by Frank McMahon, 174 Bowman street, who testified that Hancock struck his son, Edward.

JAIL NOT SPOON-PROOF

A wave of petty thievery which struck Mansfield yesterday resulted in the loss of property and cash valued at $260, police reported today.

Officers were asked to search for a 26-year-old suspect known as "Louie" after James Villella, 297 North Main street, filed charges of petty larceny in municipal court.

Villella told police that the man who had clerked in his billiard parlor and slept in the place had disappeared after he allegedly looted the cash register of $18.

Machine Stolen.

Mrs. J. Pearl Hedges, 195 East First street, last night reported the theft of her automobile, valued at $200, from in front of the Ohio Brass company on North Main street.

A pair of fog lights valued at $16 were stolen from his car while parked at North Lake park last night, M. L. Niguett, 137 West Second street, told police.

W. H. Lewis, 55 Ashland road, said that a spare tire and wheel valued at $15 was taken from a used car on his sales lot.

Clyde Pittman, 120 Woodland avenue, told police that an electric motor valued at $17 was taken from his shop at the rear of his home last night.

ASKS SECOND BOND ELECTION

Fredericktown School Board Seeks Approval of $70,000 Proposal.

FREDERICKTOWN—The Fredericktown district board of education today had asked the state tax commission for authority to hold a special election Sept. 27 to resubmit a proposed $77,000 school bond issue.

The bonds, if approved, would provide the school district's share of a PWA school building program.

The proposal was defeated when presented at the Aug. 9 primary election when it received only a 61 per cent majority. It needs a 65 per cent vote.

Decision to submit the bond proposal again followed an announcement from Washington that PWA grants which have been approved would be cancelled Oct. 1 if local funds to supplement them are not provided by that time.

OK'S PETITION FOR STREET JOB

SHELBY—A petition asking for the improvement of Jefferson avenue was approved last night at a special called session of the city council, Councilman Charles Swanger, disclosed today.

The meeting had been called by Finance Director Bert Fix with whose office the petition had been filed, Councilman Swanger said. The petition had been brought up at the last regular council meeting but was held over until the special session so that the city's engineer's estimates on the cost of the street could be made. The improvement calls for a 6-inch concete pavement on the street to be done by WPA labor, city officials stated.

BRICKER TO TALK AT CRESTLINE

G. O. P. Nominee on Community Program at Park Wednesday Night.

CRESTLINE—John W. Bricker, Republican nominee for governor, will speak here Wednesday evening at the annual community party at Hamilton park, officials of the Community Improvement association said today.

Bricker is scheduled to speak at 8:30 p. m., coming here from Wellington where he will talk in the afternoon.

The evening program also will include a band concert at 8 p. m. by the Alumni band and accordion and vocal numbers by Miss Genevieve Reindl.

At 6 p. m. Miss Gretchen Reighard, Mansfield parachute jumper, will make a 5,000-foot leap after flying here from Mansfield.

During the afternoon games will be in charge of Coach Merle Hutson of Crestline high school. The championship of the city kittenball league will be decided in a game between the Frigidaire and Kiwanis teams, and the finals of the Y. M. C. A.-Kiwanis tennis tournament will be played.

COUNTY TO SEND BIG DELEGATION TO STATE FAIR

Mitchell, Head of Sheep Exhibit, Sees Record Number of Livestock Entries.

C. L. Mitchell, Richland county commissioner who is in charge of the sheep exhibits at the Ohio State fair, predicted today that livestock entries at the exposition which opens Saturday will set a new record.

Mitchell, who has exhibited sheep at the state fair for more than 25 years, was named to the state board of agriculture last December to succeed L. B. Palmer.

"We already have more entries of sheep and other livestock than last year, and the stock show should easily surpass any seen at the fair in past years," Mitchell said.

He will take his vacation from his county duties next week so as to be at the fair.

4-H Clubs To Send Teams.

Scores of Richland countians are expected to attend the 88th annual exposition, and county 4-H clubs will send judging teams to the fair to compete for state honors.

On the opening day of the fair Saturday, which has been designated as "Junior Fair day," hundreds of rural school pupils from all parts of the state will be taken to Columbus in school buses to be guests of the fair management.

The feature attraction at the fair Saturday night will be the Renfro Valley barn dance, which recently played in Mansfield and has been showing at major fairs throughout the state.

Opening Saturday morning, the fair will be in operation Sunday and will continue through Friday, Sept. 2.

WPA TRAPS BEETLES

CHAPTER 23.

Noel couldn't say anything to that, for it was only too true. But Nick led the way into a small room just off the dressing room which he used as an office.

Seating himself behind the elaborately carved desk, he said in his tight-lipped way. "All right, Miss Doran, what can I do for you?"

"Nick, you can help me," Noel began earnestly. "I—that is, some time ago you offered me a lot—that is, considerably more money for my work—do you remember?"

"I remember," Nick said, his eyelids narrowed into slits across his pale eyes.

"I want to accept it now," Noel went on hurriedly, anxious to get the words out. She explained about Laurie then. "Of course illness costs a lot with the nurse and doctor and all."

Nick still regarded her narrowly. "Your—roommate, what? Usually it's a grandmother, or a littled crippled brother. This is the first time the roommate gag has been pulled on me."

"It's the truth," Noel said desperately. "I've got to have the money for her. I'll do my best to—to earn it."

Nick's expression did not change. "You'll do your best to earn it, will you?" he repeated.

"Yes, Nick I promise you that I—will do anything I can to bring people here. I'll even sit at the tables with them, if—if you want me to."

"That won't be necessary," he said, his voice hissing slightly between his teeth. "Now go and get dressed."

"You will let me have the—the extra money?" she asked.

"Yes."

Noel looked at him, hesitated a moment, then said. "Nick, I'm not sure that I—I can really earn so much. I mean, if—if I don't, I'll probably return it to you. I'd like to have that understood."

"Go on and get dressed," Nick said grimly.

Noel was only too glad to have the interview over, but it left her with a feeling of vast uneasiness. There was something sinister about Nick.

The night seemed endless, but it was over at last. As Noel started to leave, Maida caught up with her. "Listen, Noel," she began in her timid voice. "It's too bad you had to be late tonight. Curlylocks was here looking for you."

They were out of the building now Maida was speaking of Chris as Noel knew. "Say, kid," she went on in a lower voice, "you won't get me in trouble with Nick if—I tell you what happened?"

"No, of course I won't," Noel promised.

"Well, you see, Curlylocks came here looking for you, and the fact that you were late gave Nick a chance to—to queer things for you. He told him that you didn't work here any more, and when Curlylocks wanted your address, Nick told him that he didn't know."

Noel slowed up, thinking rapidly. "Why would Nick tell him that?" she asked, although she felt deep in her heart she knew the answer.

"Because, honey, Nick's jealous."

A hot flame of anger rushed over Noel. If she could ever, ever get away from the Peacock! But instead of getting away, she was getting in deeper all the time. And it couldn't be helped.

She wanted to see Chris. She'd been hoping to see him again. He had made the long hours at the Peacock pass much more quickly. And then, too, Chris had said that he might have something to offer her. She'd probably never know what it was now.

When Noel reached home, the nurse told her there was no change in Laurie's condition. Today had been one of her bad days, and the night had seen her grow steadily worse.

Then she asked, "Who is this Jimmy she keeps calling for in her delirium?"

Noel looked thoughtful. She didn't know. She had never heard Laurie speak of anybody by that name. The truth was Laurie had never told Noel much about herself. Noel did know, of course, that she had been in love with a man she could not marry. She thought it might have been that the man Laurie loved did not love her. That sort of thing happened, as Noel had reason to know.

There was also the possibility that the man Laurie loved might have been married. Noel explained this to the nurse, and told her what little she know of Laurie's unhappy love affair.

"Lots of girls are foolish enough to fall in love with a married man," Kitty said, "but somehow this girl doesn't strike me that way. I'd say that she's a very sensible type."

"She is," Noel agreed. "But I can't figure out what was wrong."

"We've got to find this Jimmy," Kitty Perry said. "It might have a lot to do with Laurie's recovery."

Noel didn't have the slightest idea how to go about finding him. If Laurie had only told her more about herself, it might not have seemed so impossible. But it was too late to think of that now.

The next morning, while Noel sat by Laurie's bedside, as the nurse was having breakfast, the sick girl suddenly opened her eyes and looked at Noel with recognition. For so many long hours she had been babbling unconsciously, making queer, heart-breaking sounds with her throat and throwing her hands about wildly, even when under the influence of the hypodermics, which Kitty gave her every two or three hours.

But Laurie was conscious now, there wasn't any doubt of it. Noel was overjoyed. Did that mean that she was better?

"Noel," Laurie breathed weakly.

Noel leaned her head nearer. "Yes, darling," she said brokenly.

"Get Jimmy — for me," Laurie said weakly. "Tell him I'll—" she didn't finish.

Noel said quickly, "Where will I find him, Laurie? Tell me and I'll go after him at once."

But Laurie's eyes were closed, and once again she was babbling in a delirium.

Noel rose, feeling sick at heart. If only Laurie could have told her!

Kitty came in and beckoned Noel to come outside. "I suppose you understand that after tomorrow Doctor Merridew and I will have to leave?"

Noel had of course known, but she had dreaded for this moment to come.

"We will, of course, get a nurse and another doctor before leaving," Kitty said. She then went on to say that Doctor Merridew knew a young doctor who was beginning to make a name for himself both in general practice and surgery as well. "We both believe he can do a lot for little Laurie," she finished.

Noel thanked her, but she was worried. Laurie was so critically ill, Noel wasn't sure but that it might have a bad effect to change the doctor and the nurse. Still she could only hope for the best.

As soon as Noel had a chance, she went through Laurie's things. She didn't like to do it, but there was the possible chance that she would find some clue to Jimmy's identity and where she could find him.

Laurie's things were in meticulous order. The new dresses hanging in the makeshift closet behind the cretonne curtain were beautifully fresh. In the suitcase, she found Laurie's four pair of hose, neatly darned and washed, a little pile of very white starched handkerchiefs, all of which came from the five and ten, and some fresh rayon underwear, but no clue whatever to Jimmy.

Noel wondered if there would be any chance of reaching him by a personal ad in some of the papers. She didn't believe that men ever read the "personals" in the newspapers. Still, she thought there might be a chance that Jimmy would see it. So she wrote out the following personal, and had it inserted in two afternoon papers.

"If the Jimmy who used to know Laurie Evans will call at 1148 Court street, he will find that he is very much needed."

Because she hadn't been able to leave Laurie and go to the newspaper offices, Noel had the personals charged to Mrs. Blarsom's phone. Mrs. Blarsom came out and expressed her opinion that it was both silly and foolish. She demanded that Noel find out what the two "personals" had cost, and pay her immediately. This Noel did.

She couldn't help thinking that Mrs. Blarsom must be about the most self-centered person in the world. Still, Noel concluded, with a new tolerance born of her recent experiences, the poor woman had a hard life.

Noel hoped she would have an answer to the personals before she left for the Peacock. But she was disappointed.

Just before she left, Kitty and the doctor held a sort of consultation about Laurie's condition. Noel needed but one look at their grave faces to know that Laurie was growing steadily worse.

For the first time Noel almost gave way to her grief. She looked at Laurie who was now lying motionless and so white she appeared as if she already might be dead.

For a moment Noel almost lost control of herself. The nurse came over and hurriedly gave her a dose of aromatic spirits of ammonia. "Couldn't you take tonight off?" she asked. "You're not in condition to dance and you shouldn't attempt it."

Noel shook her head, said she would have to go. The ammonia did help her a little. So she made her way to the Peacock, finding that a person could summon all her strength and do the urgent thing when there was no chance to dodge it.

At last the endless hours at the Peacock were over and Noel and Maida were on their way back, Noel walking fast because of her anxiety.

To her intense surprise when she entered the sick room, Noel found Ruth Chester there in charge. Kitty had gone.

Ruth and Noel stared at each other in surprise. Then Ruth asked curtly: "Are you the girl who is supposed to help out during the day?"

Noel nodded.

"What do you know about nursing?" Ruth demanded.

"I know enough to follow directions," Noel said with spirit.

"Well, don't forget that you take orders from me from now on," Ruth said, turning away.

Then she turned back to Noel again and demanded, "Who's going to guarantee my money? I don't intend to work for what Kitty Perry was paid. I know this is a kind of charity case, but my price is $8 and that's below schedule.

"You'll get it," Noel promised firmly.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1938.

There are still too many reckless pioneers eager to cut down trees that Nature took 300 years to make.

Employes in executive departments of government now total almost a million—with several additional millions in a receptive mood.

There may be exceptions, but it's a safe guess that the driver who tries to clear up a traffic jam by horn blowing rates under 12-year-old intelligence.

Slow Steps Toward Safety.

LONG DELAY in installing a special traffic light intended to meet conditions at the Park avenue-Bowman-Sturges-Marion avenue intersection gives an idea of the discussion and planning that must take place before action is finally taken.

Experience in eventually installing traffic lights at the Park avenue east subway was somewhat similar, with a lapse of several years and a number of serious crashes before protection was finally provided for this point.

Another danger spot, to which attention has heretofore been directed, is the Lexington avenue intersection with Cook road, where a flasher signal light would be sufficient to give warning of danger, and requirement to confine speed to 35 miles an hour after entering the city limits.

Lexington avenue, inside and outside of the city, has been notorious as a speedway for a number of years, and, in consequence, has been the scene of more traffic accidents of various kinds, than any other section of the city.

With the rapid building up of this part of Mansfield, and with the number of intersecting streets entering Lexington avenue, it appears essential to crack down on motorists who have become accustomed to use this thoroughfare as a speedway.

Will Preserve Record for Future.

ALTHOUGH a majority of people are probably more concerned about the present than the remote future, it is interesting to note that plans are being made to provide later comers on this planet with information about what is going on now.

Buried fifty feet under the exhibit building of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, at next year's world's fair in New York, will be a "time capsule" intended to project knowledge of this era to the archeologists of distant posterity.

Made of copper alloy, for indeterminable permanence, the capsule will contain books and statements describing scientific, engineering, industrial, social, religious and philosophical achievements up to this time, as well as samples of clothing, motion pictures and photographs. An inert gas will be used as a preservative.

So that knowledge of this hidden treasure may carry to future archeologists, copies of a book describing the capsule, its contents and its location, will be placed in leading libraries and museums of the world.

A backward look from a thousand—or even a hundred—years from now should prove a fascinating diversion for those who open the capsule.

Seven Points of Amity.

THE SEVEN POINTS recently enumerated by Secretary Cordell Hull are noteworthy not only in themselves, but in the order in which he set them down. First and foremost he named economic reconstruction as the foundation of national and international well-being and stability. Economic co-operation, he made plain, is a foundation stone of peace. Economic hostility is always a basis for war. Unless a man is completely insane, he does not go to war with a good customer or with the tradesman who supplies his foremost needs.

Next in order comes adherence to the basic principles of international law. In other words, a nation's word should be as good as its bond, and it should take pride in that attitude.

The third is respect for and observance of treaties. This point is really included in the second, separated from it for the sake of emphasis.

The fourth is voluntary self-restraint: abstention from force and from meddling, settlement of differences by peaceful processes. This calls for positive effort in the maintenance of peace; the "abstention" is not negative but constructive.

Number five suggests that all nations limit and progressively reduce their armament. This they could do if with the first, second and third in practice they could be released from the tension and drive of fear.

Number six asks for collaboration and free intellectual interchange of ideas, with the purpose of promoting better understanding among nations.

Number seven bespeaks international co-operation in such ways and by such methods as may be practicable for the advancement of this program.

Viewed from the borders bristling with intellectual, emotional and militaristic hostilities, this may sound idealistic and impractical. Viewed from the regions of the great democracies, the seven points are as practical as the maxims of Poor Richard, as simple and sensible as the Golden Rule. Will the nations be able to believe this?

Object to Magazine Filth.

THERE is more ado in foreign countries about American magazines. The latest to protest against the growing flood of our magazine exports is Australia

Our friends "down under" like us, apparently, as much as ever, but find our recent magazine production strong meat for their young people. A recent shipment of 300,000 magazines, now under a customs ban which was imposed for moral reasons, has been allowed to go on sale only because it was shipped before the ban was imposed.

Many complaints have been made to the Australian minister of customs regarding the quality of these literary imports. The people say the magazines are not fit for their children, but the children have been buying them. They want protection in order to preserve their own standards.

At least in Georgia, President Roosevelt seems to have decided that he won't let George do it.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—One of J. Edgar Hoover's highly prized possessions, in addition to the bullet proof vest of John Dillinger, is a letter from an earnest admirer who concluded a long dissertation on crime by saying:

"After long study, I have concluded that the best way to end crime is to outlaw it."

Just as the Department of Justice presses its campaign to outlaw price-fixing and monopoly, the Postoffice Department discloses, and boasts, that it does the neatest bit of profiteering in the land.

For 7 cents it can manufacture a sheet of 100 three cent stamps sell them to a stamp collector and reap a clear profit of $2.93. It could profit even more if stamp collectors bought whole sheets of $5 stamps, which don't cost much more to print than the three centers. But stamp collectors don't buy the costly ones wholesale.

Funny Philately.

SO profitable is the business of selling to stamp collectors that the department is thinking of taking a truck load on a transcontinental tour to drum up business. As one postman calculated, if a million people could be persuaded to start collecting stamps and in the course of time bought $100 worth each, that would be $100,000,000, almost clear profit—as long as they keep them in their collections. If they use them to send letters the profit is gone. It costs the department all of the three cents to carry the letter. It all sounds sort of dreamy-eyed to us, but then, we don't collect stamps.

Anyway, the truck isn't going for a while. There's a hitch. Taking a million dollars worth of stamps across the country without an escort seems risky. If an armed escort went along, it would eat up part of the profit. Mr. Farley hasn't solved that one yet.

Incidentally, the people who buy those $5 stamps are bankers and movie companies. They plaster them on insured securities and on films being hurried about the country.

Practice Makes Puncture.

THIS piece began with G-men and can end by telling how they practice shooting kidnapers. A target resembling a kidnaper is set up 60 yards away, a fair distance for pistol shooting. The G-man, pretending he is battling a kidnaper, blazes away five times with the gun in his right hand and another five with it in his left, loading in between.

Then begins the charge. The G-man rushes 10 yards at a time, firing sometimes lying flat on his stomach, sometimes sitting or kneeling. In all he shoots 50 times, half with his left hand and half with his right. The last 10 shots are fired from the hip at 30 feet.

All of this shooting and loading must be completed in 6½ minutes. Most G-men do it in 6 minutes. (The kidnaper is supposed to stand there.) The score is based on what part of the body the bullets hit. Any G-man getting under 80 points better start practicing. In a fight with gangsters, a miss is as good as a monument.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Aug. 23, 1918.

E. J. Tobias announced sale of his meat market to Walter Keeler.

Charles V. Berry, contractor, was suffering from injury caused by stepping on rusty nail.

George Fildes, 77, Civil war veteran, died.

Mr. and Mrs W. P. Sheets and Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Siegenthaler returned from motor trip through the east.

Harry Flasher was graduated from school of aeronautics at O. S. U.

Congressman William A. Ashbrook took first aeroplane flight at Washington, and enjoyed it.

John Madlem, 78, retired Erie engineer, died at his home in Galion.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Wednesday, Aug. 23, 1933.

Adjutant C. A. Ditmer, head of the Mansfield Salvation Army, was transferred to a post in New York state.

Miss Esther Fickes and Miss Beatrice Piatt returned from the Century of Progress.

The law firm of Henkel and Gongwer moved its offices from the Mohican to the Farmers Bank building.

Howard W. Longsdorf, veteran printer and native of Mansfield, died at his home in Cleveland.

Campaigning As Done In England

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—If our political system were more like England's, there could be no doubt of President Roosevelt's right to get out among the voters, here, there and everywhere, campaigning for his kind of congressional candidates.

Maybe it's all right here, too, but its rightness is disputed.

There the propriety of such campaigning is unquestioned.

FREQUENT ELECTIONS

England has what we would call a national election once in every seven years, whether or no. However, it can have them at much briefer intervals. In fact, it generally does have one oftener than that. Seldom does an administration last for a full septennium without one, to test its popularity.

Assume that there has just been an English election.

The recognized leader of the winning party immediately is appointed prime minister, a post corresponding to our president's. He has a parliamentary majority behind him, and, for a while, everything is lovely.

A SPLIT BEGINS

But assume farther that the prime minister's party gradually begins to split, as has occurred in this country.

Say that he was elected as a liberal, head of a liberal parliamentary majority. But later a considerable number of the erstwhile liberals begin to vote conservatively, just as quite a block of our anti-New Deal Democrats have taken to voting with the Republicans.

Presently it becomes doubtful that the liberal prime minister really does have a parliamentary majority, just as it has become doubtful of late that President Roosevelt really has a dependable congressional New Deal majority.

A GENERAL ELECTION

Well, the prime minister suffers a few defeats, like President Roosevelt's defeats on supreme court and government reorganization.

Thereupon the prime minister says, "O. K. My administration resigns herewith. We'll have another election, to decide whether or not I HAVE got a parliamentary majority. If the electorate decides against me, I'm out for good—unless, subsequently, there's a resurge in my favor."

So a general election follows.

The prime minister, being, after all, only one of his party's parliamentary candidates, is at perfect liberty to go out and electioneer for any one or more of his fellow partisans, in their constituencies as well as his own—just as Senator Wheeler of Montana is entitled to make speeches for Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, if he chooses.

NON-RESIDENTS

More than this, a member of parliament does not necessarily have to live in the district which elects him. A district which likes the looks of some non-resident can nominate, elect and employ him to represent it if it sees fit.

Such selections are not frequent but they are occasional.

Indeed, suppose a party leader has a follower he is especially anxious to have succeed himself in parliament, but that follower's constituency is adverse to him. There is some other amenable constituency, however. The party leader, accordingly, asks the amenable constituency to elect that chap as its candidate, though he doesn't live there.

Parenthetically:

It isn't generally known, but, in his country, a representative in congress is not constitutionally required to live in the district he represents.

An overly obvious non-resident couldn't be elected, to be sure, but he might be technically eligible. All the same, we have quite a few lawmakers from distant parts, who dwell hereabouts in Maryland and Virginia and never visit their home states except in campaign time—birds who maintain only nominal residences out in the sticks but LIVE here around the capital.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"To Call a Spade a Spade."

The Macedonians omitted the verbal embroideries; "calling a spade a spade" is a phrase these ancient had for unequivocal language.

In Plutarch's Apothegms is set down perhaps the earliest recorded use of this—what many of us may have regarded as a—typical Americanism for blunt speech, but which was common currency twenty-two hundred odd years ago.

"The citizens," confided his friend Lasthenes to Philip, "are calling you a traitor."

"Ay," returned the father of Alexander the Great, "these Macedonians are a rude and clownish people that call a spade a spade!"

Aviation in the Future.

The recent survey made by the federal bureau of air commerce shows there are 9,732 aircraft in this country having federal licenses. That is an increase of 1,818 over the number a year ago, and is looked on as a very important advance, being about 23 per cent. Those figures are interesting particularly when considered in comparison with the early-day records and subsequent development of the automobile. Practically nobody dreamed what has happened in the automotive industry in the last quarter of a century.

The World almanac for 1913 says of the automobile industry, "In round numbers, a quarter of a million automobiles were built in the United States in 1912 and practically all of this enormous output found a ready market either at home or abroad." Production has since gone up in excess of 5,000,000 in a single year and "practically all this enormous output found a ready market either at home or abroad."

If aviation progresses as the automobile industry has, and there is no reason to believe it will not do proportionately as well, we should be putting out at least 50,000 planes a season in another quarter of a century.—Indianapolis Star.

Health Advice

Meaning of Term, 'Nervousness.'

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE TERM "nervousness" is used so frequently to explain some symptom that it has become commonplace, yet it is quite doubtful if many persons could give a clear-cut definition of the term or possess more than the slightest fundamental knowledge of its cause.

To most laymen nervousness means some disease of the nerves, in the sense that the nerves of nervous people differ in some way from those of a placid person. It is doubtful if many have ever thought to inquire in just what manner this difference could be demonstrated.

When the physician says, "Your nerves are upset" or "You are nervous" or "You are on the verge of a nervous breakdown," he does not mean at all that your nerves would show the slightest variation from the normal if examined under the microscope. The term is a misnomer and does not have any direct bearing on nerves at all.

It means that through some cause, which it is the physician's duty to discover if possible, the patient presents certain evidences of unusual agitation or anxiety and through this develops symptoms in various parts of the body. It simply means an abnormal "state of mind" or an overstimulation or activity of the emotional centers, and has nothing whatever to do with organic disease. It is quite the common thing to observe, however, an actual disturbance in the physiology or organs induced entirely through nervous influences, and these may be so profound as to completely incapacitate the patient. Some of the most serious prostrating illnesses have their entire inception in an abnormal emotional state, and tax the patience and ingenuity of the physician.

Lose Appetite From Shock.

Almost every adult has experienced a sudden loss of appetite or inability to eat a meal after a severe fright or shock. Has it ever occurred to you to ask the reason? You know, in a general way, that it is some way connected with the nerves and that you were so "upset" that you simply could not eat, that your appetite was completely gone. In fact, if you had tried to eat, against your better judgment, the stomach would have disgorged it immediately.

Now multiply this well known experience by 300, stretching the imagination over a period of three months, and try to conceive of a chronic state of fear or shock or anxiety with loss of appetite during this entire time, with occasionally a slight let-up in the symptoms, just sufficient to permit the taking of enough food to prevent absolute starvation, and you have a mental picture of a very common disorder.

There is no question but that these things occur in just the manner described, and the only explanation is some profound disturbance of the emotional centers. The brain and nerves of this sort of person may be exactly like those of a normal healthy person in appearance and reaction to all sorts of tests.

A Farmer's Diary

Experience With a Ram.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WALKED home across my neighbor's meadow. A flock of sheep was grazing peacefully near the center of the field. I did not want to frighten them, so took a northern course.

They nibbled the short grass with quick, neat movements of the head. A stocky ram, with rows of woolly double chins, was guardian of the flock. With wary eye, he changed his position, at sight of me, and came to this side of the feeding group. Here he began to graze, apparently forgetful of my presence. At short intervals a ewe would raise her head, look at me, then return to feeding. I felt confident that all was well, and walked on.

In a little hollow I came upon some toadstools that had a peculiar pinkish color, with lighter shadings zigzagged across the sloping heads. I stooped to get a closer look, and touched one with my finger.

Then all at once, I heard a wicked bleat, and beating hoofs so close behind me that I could not raise up fast enough to see, until the ram had bunted me a heavy blow upon my thigh. I toppled and rolled over, then jumped quickly up, to see what next.

He backed away, bleated an angry call, and made for me a second time. His head was low, his eyes flashed fire. I waited till he came within five feet or less, then jumped aside, and the furious sheep ran by. Limping, I followed him, as he backed up for the third attack, and caught him by the shaggy wool that stood so thick and heavy across his shoulders. I threw him on the ground and placed my knee upon his neck. I held his hard old head against the ground, and rubbed his nose into the dirt,—by way of revenge.

Victory was mine, but at a price! I limped slowly home. My pants were torn. My face had touched the soft, moist earth. I reeked with sheepy odors.

I hope the ram is happy with his flock. I'm sure I shall not disturb him.

Young America Says—

Is Mama a Martyr, and Should Papa Always Pay and Pay?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

MRS. JIMMIE CARROLL of Trawick, Texas, at the controls—

Dropping a bomb that's guaranteed to shatter wifely complacency to smithereens. So, if you dent easily, better pass this up. Otherwise here, perhaps, is the medicine for what's ailing your not-so-happy home.

"Dear Elsie Robinson—

"Will you do me a great favor by passing on some hints to these modern women who feel they are model wives and mothers—yet, for some reason, are 'never appreciated'? Perhaps I can tell them why. Just as one Newlywed to another—

"Look yourself over, sister, and answer these questions if you dare. Are you one of these young women who believe they are carrying the whole world on their shoulders, simply because they do their housework, care for a small child and keep within the limits of a budget? And are you filled with much secret self-pity because you aren't constantly praised for performing all this 'sacrifice and slavery'?

"THEN, SUPPOSE, JUST FOR A CHANGE, YOU LOOK AT YOUR HUSBAND'S SIDE OF THE STORY.

"It's evening. You tired man has just come home after a steady drive of hard, manual labor, and the worry and anxiety that goes with any job these days. He hasn't been able to lie down and take a little nap during that day . . . or read a fashion magazine . . . or fuss with his hair or nails, or gossip with Mabel for a half hour over the phone . . . or gone window shopping. He has worked hard and steadily. Now he comes back, longing for a quiet evening, feeling that he has performed his full and fair share of the family job.

THEN WHAT DO YOU DO? DO YOU WELCOME HIM LOVINGLY INTO A RESTFUL, HAPPY ATMOSPHERE? OR DO YOU BEGIN WHINING ABOUT ALL YOU'VE HAD TO DO OR ENDURE BEFORE HE GETS THE FIRST MOUTHFUL DOWN?

"After that, do you expect him to help you with the dishes, so you can go on with your serial story? Or do you throw a fit if he won't take you to a movie and ask him if he thinks you're 'going to live like a slave forever'?

"YOU DO? THEN LET ME TELL YOU SOMETHING, SISTER! IF THAT'S YOUR ATTITUDE AS A WIFE, YOU'RE JUST WISHING YOURSELF OUT OF A JOB! MARRIAGE IS A PARTNERSHIP AND IT IS UP TO EVERY WOMAN TO CARRY HER FULL SHARE OF THAT PARTNERSHIP. OR ELSE—!

"Why do I so sympathize with husbands? Because I was one of those modern young wives myself. I thought I loved my husband. I knew he provided well for his child and me. BUT I NEVER REALIZED WHAT A DEBT OF RESPECT AND GRATITUDE I OWED HIM UNTIL MY MARRAIGE WAS ALMOST ON THE ROCKS. Then, believe me, I woke up and started to pray. Today, thanks to my dear husband's patience and love, and God's help, our home is a very different place—a place of heavenly joy which our little son will always remember and use as a standard of living."

Mrs. Jimmie Carroll,
Trawick, Texas.

That's a timely earful, Mrs. Jimmie. Marriage is passing through dizzy days. The old-fashioned wife realized that housekeeping and baby-tending were her personal profession and pride . . . and acted accordingly. But the Modern Missis rarely knows whether she's going or coming! With the spectacle of her Working or Professional Sisters constantly confronting her . . . with the thought of their exquisite grooming, their youthfulness, their vivacity, vigor and joyous independence constantly challenging her . . . she's bound to feel that she's a Martyr to Matrimony and that Man should pay, and pay—AND PAY!

But is she and should he? Is the Modern Mama trapped, tricked and Done Dirt generally? Or is she just a Spoiled Kid who wants to have her cake and eat it, too?

Man About Manhattan

Looks Over New Orleans

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW ORLEANS—Among the interesting people I have had the privilege of meeting and being with in New Orleans have been Seymour Weiss, whom Billy Rose describes as "the most influential gentleman in Louisiana and by all odds the nicest;" John McKay, general manager of the dock board of the Port of New Orleans, and Mr. James J. A. Fortier, curator at the Cabildo, ancient seat of Spanish rule in America and now the Louisiana state museum.

I am especially indebted to these gentlemen, for it was through them that I have been able to see all the things I wanted to see and do the things I wanted to do.

I was interested, of course, in the modern developments in New Orleans as well as French town and Jackson Square, and Mr. Weiss very graciously placed a car at my disposal, so that I had the benefit of a chauffeur and guide who took me everywhere and explained anything that I wanted to know.

AND I wanted to see one of the big banana boats from the tropics unload, and Mr. McKay took me down where the S. S. Toloha was disgorging thousands of bunches of the fruit.

Mr. McKay had three years experience in the tropics with bananas before he became general manager of the dock board in New Orleans, and if there is anything about bananas he doesn't understand it can't be very important. As the cargo poured from the ship he explained the whole history of banana culture as we know it today, and I was astounded to learn, for instance, that the banana belongs to the lily family. It grows from within.

Most of the bananas consumed in the country are swung from boats by negro labor right here in New Orleans. At least five ships a week every week in the year are warped into their berths along the docks, and it is no feat at all for 50,000 bunches, to be unloaded in six or seven hours.

HAVING glimpsed the municipal developments and become an authority on banana culture I went over to the Cabildo and talked all morning with Mr. Fortier, who is an enthusiastic and, at times, militant champion of Louisiana's place in world history. The Cabildo is a "must" on the list of any visitor to New Orleans, for there is where the formal transfer of Lousiana from the French to the United States took place. There you will find the cell that housed Pierre LaFitte, the great paintings of the Battle of New Orleans, portraits and factual records of the great men, from ancient grandees to modern statesmen, who have had a part in New Orleans history. There is a whole room devoted to Huey Long.

There is a record of Louisiana's part in the Revolutionary war, and the War of 1812, and the War Between the States, and the Spanish-American war, and, finally the World war. You see cutlasses used by LaFitte's pirates, you see the great painting representing the last council of war between Lee and Jackson.

There is a patio where the boots of innumerable cavaliers have trod. There is a recently discovered dungeon in which bones and iron shackles were found. There is, in fact, some memento or relic of everything of historical importance that has ever happened in Louisiana. I think it may safely be said that no state museum in the country has so complete and fascinating a record of its past, and certainly James Fortier is the man largely responsible.

RUSSIAN ENVOY WANTS BRITAIN TO ACT ON SPAIN

Demands Meeting of Non-Intervention Group as Gen. Franco Rejects Plans.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador, visited the foreign office today and demanded immediate summoning of the non-intervention committee on Spain, in view of the crisis caused by the Nationalist rejection of Britain's proposals for withdrawal of foreign volunteers.

It was reported that when Maisky proposed that the committee meet at the end of this week, Lord Plymouth, its chairman, replied that it would be impracticable, declaring that further preparation would be necessary.

It was learned that Guido Crolla, Italian charge d'affaires, visited Plymouth yesterday and urged a further diplomatic exchange between the non-intervention committee and the insurgent government at Burgos, with a view to elucidating passages considered obscure in Gen. Francisco Franco's note.

Lord Plymouth was understood to share Crolla's opinion. The next step would be a further communication with Burgos, he said, so that a committee meeting meanwhile would be inopportune.

Ready For Parley.

British cabinet members held themselves ready for a special meeting as Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, and other key men of the government anxiously studied the situation. A split in the French cabinet added to the anxiety.

It was understood that Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, intended to get in touch with the French foreign office and urge that France keep its frontier closed against any flow of arms to the Loyalists, for fear that Premier Benito Mussolini might intervene openly in behalf of the nationalists.

Strangely, the nationalist note seemed to cause more anxiety here than it did in Paris.

It appeared the British leaders were considerably anxious over Mussolini's attitude. He has long been impatient at delay in enforcing the British-Italian friendship treaty. Delay in effecting the plan for evacuation of civil war "volunteers" meant delay in making the treaty effective.

In Paris, however, according to United Press dispatches, the government seemed to have no thought of opening its frontier to Spain and did not even regard the nationalist note as unfavorably as did the British.

One big reason was the assurance given in the nationalist "volunteer" reply, that Spain never would tolerate foreign interference. It is the threat that Germany or Italy might obtain special concessions in Spain or its outlying territories that had chiefly worried French leaders.

Also there seemed no particular anxiety in Paris over the minor cabinet crisis, while here leaders showed concern. To the British, any open dissension among French leaders was calculated to strengthen the position of the totalitarian nations.

Rotarians Told of Convention by Sandusky Member.

Highlights of the recent convention of Rotary International, held in San Francisco, were brought to Mansfield Rotarians at their Tuesday meeting by Grant Waddle, assistant sales manager of the American Crayon company of Sandusky, who attended the convention as delegate of the Sandusky club.

With attendance of more than 10,000 and representation from clubs all over the world, the San Francisco convention was the second largest in history.

Incidents of the trip and comment on convention sessions and entertainment features provided the basis of the talk.

C. W. Knouff, Sandusky Rotarion, was a guest at the meeting, at which G. J. Kochenderfer was program chairman.

The speaker at next week's meeting is to be John Poll, Mansfield high school graduate who is now completing a course at Northwestern university. Charles H. Hughes will be program chairman.

after the meeting he saw Hines at 351 Lenox avenue, which was the main headquarters of the policy racket.

Weinberg said Schultz told him to arrange to meet Hines and "see what was to be done if I need to get in touch with him."

"Hines said I could get in touch with him at his home, 444 Central Park west, or on certain nights at his club," said Weinberg. "He said to see him at his home between 6 and 8 p. m. or in the mornings, or at his club on certain nights."

Weinberg testified that he met Hines about ten days after the meeting at which he claimed the Tammany district leader agreed to "fix" things for the syndicate. He said he met him in front of the Hines home on Central Park west.

Q—(By District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey) What did you do?

A—Just paid him the money he was supposed to get.

Q—How much?

A—$500.

The silver-haired, 61-year-old Hines flushed a deep red as this answer was given. For a brief moment he lost his poker-faced expression and he shifted in his seat.

Dewey followed up this lead asking Weinberg if he paid Hines that amount regularly after that.

"Yes, once a week," replied the witness.

Q—Where did this money come from?

A—From the number banks.

Q—Did you meet him again at his home?

A—At his home or his club. Every week or two weeks.

Q—And every time you paid him $500?

A—I paid him $500 or $1,000.

REVENUE DROPS

County's Allotment of Sales Tax $1,000 Under June.

Richland county today had been allocated $8,051 as the county's share of the July sales tax receipts from the state local government fund.

Arthur S. Beck, deputy county auditor, said the amount is about $1,000 less than the county's June allotment.

Sales tax funds which have accumulated for the past three months, totaling about $27,500, will be distributed to the county's subweeks for operating expenses, Beck said.

Total distribution to Ohio counties was $904,483.

DEMOCRATS GET READY FOR FALL

Brunner Mentioned for Chairmanship as State Central Committee Gathers.

governor said the president "was very much pleased over the prospects for a Democratic victory in Ohio."

Meanwhile, party leaders speculated on the role Gov. Martin L. Davey will play in the campaign. Granting his first interview since he was defeated for re-nomination at the primary election, Davey yesterday refused to disclose his political plans for the future.

"You may tell the public," he said, "that I am in good health and in good spirits."

Although he would not indicate any stand he might take, Davey did spike definitely rumors that he would become an independent candidate.

"A man would be crazy to think about running as an independent candidate," he said. And in a like fashion he brushed aside reports that he might run as an independent for the U. S. senate.

"The man who cannot take defeat has no business in politics," he said.

Today's meeting between Sawyer and other candidates was expected to be confined to a discussion of campaign policies, organization and procedure. Tomorrow the newly elected state central committee will hold its reorganization meeting. Arthur Limbach of New Philadelphia is expected to be named chairman of the state executive committee.

Political observers saw Albert A. Horstman of Dayton as the leading contender for chairman of the state central committee to succeed Earl Hanefeld of Ottawa, state agriculture director in the Davey administration.

In his interview yesterday the governor asserted that the average monthly allowance of $23 to old age pensioners would not be cut during the rest of his term of office.

"Whatever happens we will not cut the pensions," he said, "even if we have to borrow more money from the general fund."

The state pension system already has borrowed $1,200,000 from the state general fund to finance July and August payments. Davey said that present collections indicated the general fund would have a surplus of $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 at the end of the year.

SHELBY WOMAN DIES AT AGE 71

SHELBY — Mrs. M. C. Tracht, 71, native of Crawford county, died in the Shelby Memorial hospital late Monday after a lingering illness. Born in Hinesville, March 3, 1857, Mrs. Tracht had lived in Shelby for the past 28 years. She was a member of the First Lutheran church.

Mrs. Tracht is survived by two daughters, Gertrude and Mary, at home; one brother, Frank Douglass of Shelby, and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Hartman of New Washington and Miss Dolly Douglass of Shelby.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Barkdull funeral home with Rev. D. B. Young and Rev. M. P. Paetznick of the First Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be made in Oakland cemetery.

WEDDING SET

BUCYRUS—Sunday, Sept. 4 has been announced as the date of the wedding of Miss Mary Stuckert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stuckert, 556 Park avenue, and Charles M. Hamm of Cincinnati. The nuptials will be solemnized at 2 p. m. in Epworth Methodist Episcopal church.

The bride elect, who is a nurse at Bethesda hospital in Cincinnati, is spending several days with her parents.

50 ANSWER CALL

BUCYRUS—Uniforms were issued to 50 football hopefuls Monday morning when Coach Elden Armbrust issued his first call for practice.

The season will open here Sept. 16 with Willard.

PWA APPROVES SHELBY GRANTS

OK's Allotments of $90,000 for Power Plant, $45,000 for Waterworks Project.

SHELBY—Announcement of the approval of PWA allottments for Shelby was made at the Public Works Administration offices in Washington today.

The grants approved for Shelby were $90,000 for the power plant addition and $45,000 for improvements at the waterworks department. New equipment amounting to $200,000 will be purchased for the power plant. The project was recently approved by city council. Revenue from the plant will furnish $110,000 of the cost.

The waterworks project was approved in a levy at the recent primary. A new softening unit and the erection of a water storage tank in downtown Shelby are included in the waterworks project.

Work on both projects will start in the near future, city officials stated.

'Place of Shame' Here Figures in Old Murder Case

A "place of shame" in Mansfield figured today in Medina county's forgotten "Pig lane" murder case in which William Evans, convicted for the murder of his sweetheart, seeks a re-hearing to gain his freedom from Ohio penitentiary.

Evans' confession of the murder, which came to light today, eight years after the murder was committed, revealed that he killed Dolly Kozlowski, 19, rather than see the girl he loved enter "a place of shame" in Mansfield.

"I told her I would kill her if she went back to that place in Mansfield, and I did," Evans said in his confession, detective records showed. The girl, then 19, was shot to death in an oats field near Wadsworth.

Evans contends in his petition for re-hearing that Judge Owens, who attended the murder trial as an attorney in 1930, allegedly old a Barberton lawyer that he (Judge Owens) could not grant Evans a new hearing because he believed Evans to be guilty.

Evans' petition for vacation of judgment and committment to the penitentiary, filed in 1935, was refused by Judge Owens. Evans said the judge was prejudiced and had no right to hear the appeal.

WOMAN, 76, DIES

NORTH LIBERTY — Funeral services for Mrs. Lena Arnold Snyder, 76, who died at her home here Monday morning, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the North Liberty M. E. church. Burial will be in the North Liberty cemetery.

Mrs. Snyder is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Cutnaw and Mrs. Nan Arnold, with whom she made her home, and several nieces and nephews. Her husband, Logan Snyder, died 17 years ago.

Regent Turns Down Czechs' Plea for Non-Aggression Pact; Will Re-arm.

door open for further negotiations with Czechoslovakia, but instead of the ironclad non-aggression pact the latter nation had originally demanded, any future agreement will be a mere treaty of friendship along the lines of the Kellogg pact.

Hungary Receives Right to Re-arm.

BLED, YUGOSLAVIA— (AP) — The little entente swept away the military clauses of another World war treaty today and gave Hungary the right to rearm "in the interest of peace."

The three nations—Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugloslavia—agreed to abrogate arms restrictions in the Trianon treaty and grant military equality to Hungary.

The action followed a similar move by the Balkan entente, which includes Rumania and Yugoslavia, on July 30 wiping out military clauses of the treaty of Neuilly which limited Bulgaria's rearmament.

Dr. Milan Stoyadinovitch, premier and foreign minister of Yugoslavia, made the announcement at the close of a three day conference of little entente foreign ministers in this little resort.

He said the principle of an understanding had been reached with Hungary also on bilateral nonaggression pacts and minority problem details which would be negotiated between Hungary and the three nations individually.

Conversations on Danubian navigation, he said, also would be held in Belgrade "in the fall."

A formal communique expressed satisfaction over improvement of the international situation in Europe, particularly between the little entente countries and their neighbors.

CLOUDS KEEP MERCURY DOWN

Showers to Bring Further Drop In Temperature Tonight.

Overcast skies and cooling breezes held the temperature to a comfortable level today, and showers tonight were expected to shove the mercury still lower.

Mansfielders saw a hint of approaching autumn in the temperature drop from a high of 85 degrees to 50 last night.

A brief shower fell in Mansfield at noon today after the temperature climbed to 82 degrees at noon. Cloudy and cooler weather were forecast for Wednesday.

CADETS HOME FOR VISIT

BUCYRUS — Two Bucyrus youths who are following military training are vacationing with relatives here this week.

Cadet Augustus Cullen has as his guest this week Cadet George J. Bayerle of West Point. The two cadets are leaving Thursday to attend several social affairs in the east before returning to West Point.

This is Cadet Cullen's last vacation from the academy for two years.

Norbert Freese, who is enrolled at the U. S. Naval Base at Norfolk, Va., will be graduated from the Service school this week and will return to Bucyrus with his sister Mrs. Mildred Gerhart, who is leaving Wednesday to attend the graduation exercises. His future orders will await him when he arrives in Bucyrus.

GET NEW ARMS

Spanish Government Troops Receive Modern Guns.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier — (UP) — Spanish insurgents reported today that along the Ebro river battle front government troops—usually short on heavy war supplies—were fighting back with powerful new artillery batteries.

The newest automatic small arms, a large number of anti-tank guns, light artillery and an estimated 40 batteries of heavy artillery were reported being used by the Loyalists as they clung to their positions on rocky slopes along the River Ebro on the vital Gandesa sector.

Rain that handicapped the Nationalist tanks and strong positions of the Loyalist defense lines threatened to make Rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco's five-day counter-offensive one of the costliest of the war.

COUPLE MARRIED AT SHENANDOAH

GREENWICH—It was announced today that Miss Mabel Yentzer, daughter of Grover Yentzer, became the bride of John Hahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hahn, Shenandoah, at the Christian church there.

Rev. Turner Holt, Greenwich, read the ceremony which was performed at 8 p. m. The bride, who wore a formal gown of white chiffon with a shoulder-length veil, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Pauline Packard. Mrs. Packard wore hyacinth blue.

Alfred Hahn, brother of the groom, served as best man. Miss Lucille Holt played the piano selection "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and Nina and Ethel Hahn, sisters of the bridegroom, sang "I Love You Truly."

NAME DELEGATES FOR NATIONAL CONVENTION

Mrs. Ella McHugh, Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell Will Represent Mansfield Tent, D. of U. V., Next Month.

AT THE MEETING last night of Mary B. Mitchell Tent No. 40, Daughters of Union Veterans, in the Y. M. C. A. club rooms, plans were made for two conventions. Mrs. Ella McHugh, president, and Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell were selected to serve as delegates to the National Daughters of Union Veterans convention which will be held Sept. 1 at Des Moines, Ia.

The district convention which will be held at Fredericksburg, Sept. 27, was also discussed. Mrs. J. E. Droz was endorsed by the tent and by the state for national senior vice president.

During the routine business meeting the national and department general orders were read, and the new pass word was given. Relief work amounting to $85 was reported for the past two weeks. Several applications for membership were also read.

Tentative plans were made to hold the next meeting in the newly decorated club rooms of the Memorial building. The session will be held Sept. 12 at the hall.

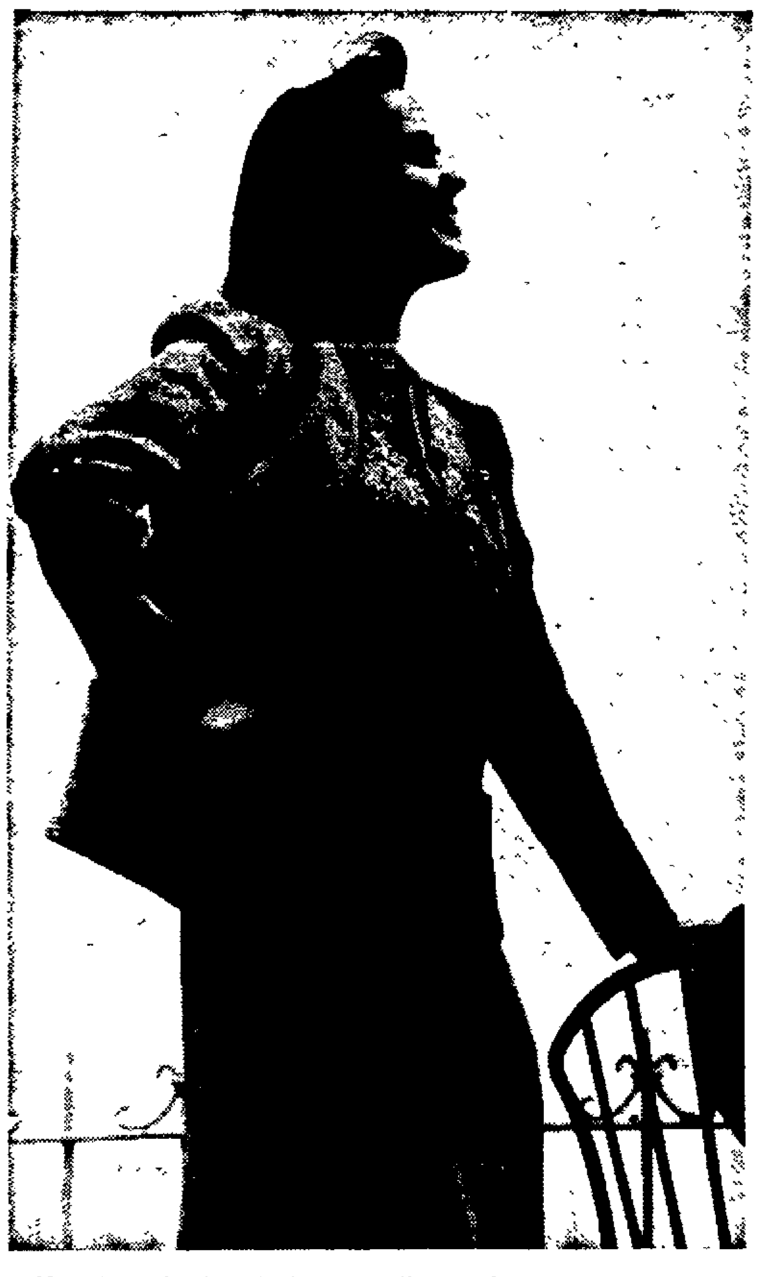
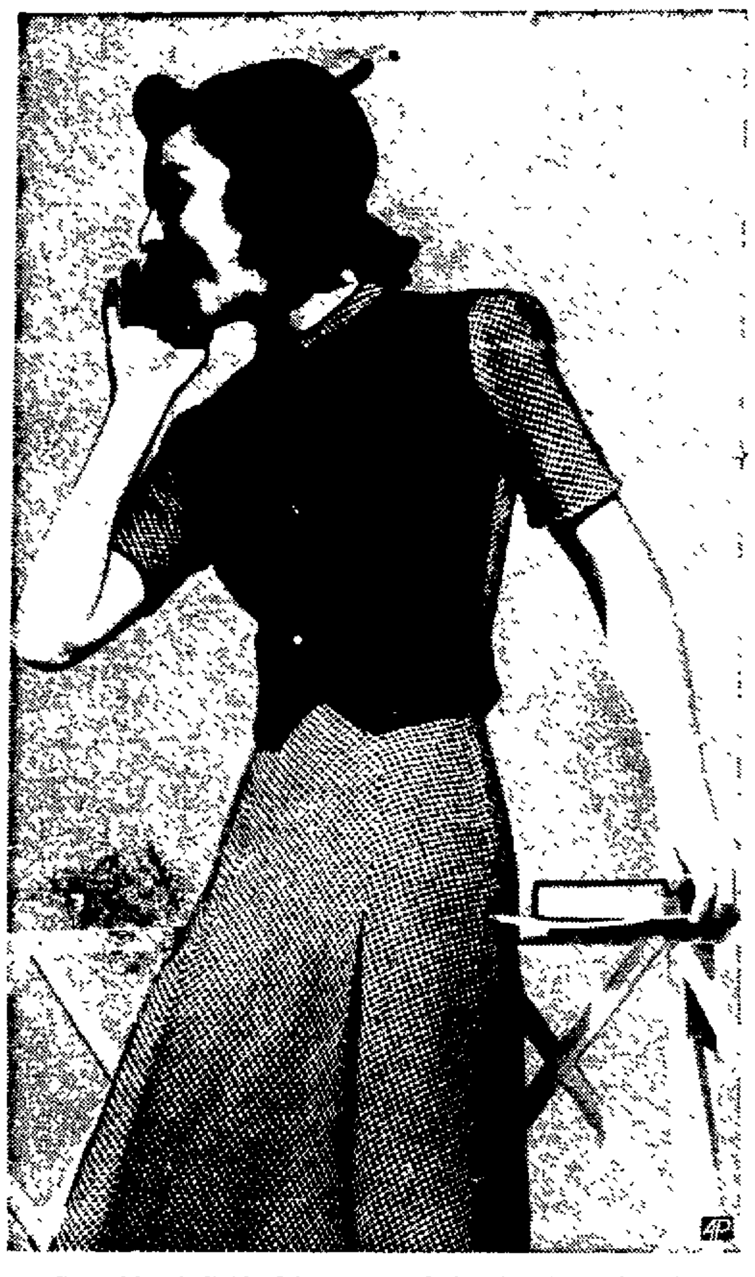
SOCIETY & CLUBS

School Days Team With Casual Clothes for Chic



Here is a classic suit for the college girl—a cardigan jacket and skirt of gray tweed flecked with cherry and white and worn with a sweater knot of cherry-splashed gray wool to match.



Something individual in campus clothes is this frock of brown and white shepherd's checked wool topped by a waistcoat whose trimly buttoned front is of brown corduroy. The callot is corduroy, too.

A. A. U. W. STARTS NEW STUDY GROUPS FOR FALL

Organization Announces Plans for Year: Two Teas, Dance, Buffet Party, and Varied Programs Scheduled.

A SHINY silver covered booklet came to the desk this morning containing the program of the Mansfield branch of the American Association of University Women. This year the organization has arranged five study groups to meet several times each month and to present programs at the general meetings.

The five groups will study the American novel, drama, consumer purchasing, education, and current events. For the first meeting the group will have a picnic at the home of Mrs. R. W. Berger. Miss Katherine Culp will serve as chairman for that. The affair will be Sept. 13.

For the October meeting the group will sponsor a membership tea at Westbrook Country club. Mrs. Milo Hieber is in charge of the affair and Elizabeth Hamilton, dean of women at Miami university at Oxford, will be presented as guest speaker.

Regular monthly sessions will be held at the Women's Club preceded by a dinner. In late January or early February the group will entertain with a dance at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Mrs. F. J. Heringhaus is chairman. On Valentine day the association will have a buffet party at the hotel with Mrs. W. L. Miller in charge of arrangements.

The final scheduled affair for the club year is the tea for senior girls to be given at Westbrook Country club late in May. Mrs. John W. Graham is chairman.

Members of the program committee who have arranged the winter program are Mrs. Merritt Giles, Mrs. Gilbert Schneider, Mrs. G. W. Hypes, Mrs. Edward D. Gibson, and Miss Ruth Culbertson.

DELIVERS MAIL.

Mrs. William Cridiford, 74, of Bracebridge, Ontario, is one of Canada's oldest mail carriers. For 25 years she has driven a horse-drawn stage 24 miles each day on a rural mail route.

Late August, Early September Weddings of Social Interest

SUMMER appears to be slipping quickly away, and major clubs and organizations look to Labor Day and the approaching fall with a variety of plans in the foreground. Final picnics, garden and lawn parties, committee meetings for first club sessions and the ever-present excitement of prenuptial plans fill the days.

All the garden clubs get the week-end and the approaching holiday off to a nice start with a variety of meetings and papers on subjects interesting to the membership. The Saturday marriage of a well-known Mansfield instructor is the first nuptial event of interest.

On Saturday Miss Heloise Moore, of Ashland, will become the bride of Edwin Fensch at the Ashland Evangelical church. Two weddings will brighten the social horizon Sunday when Miss Geraldine Callihan and Oscar Jay Banks are married at the home of the bride, 110 West Third street, and Miss Virginia Alleman, Big Prarie, and H. Ducker Gyber are married.

The end of the month will be made memorable by the wedding of Miss Clara Hattery and Thomas Siegenthaler at 6 30 p. m., Aug. 30 at Miss Hattery's home.

Labor Day, unlike most holidays, has not been favored as a wedding day here, but Miss Janet Zimmerman and Gordon Lyceringer, Detroit, Mich., will wed here at the South Main Street Evangelical church the Sunday before.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, August 24.

THIS SHOULD be an eventful day, in which rather devastating conditions are bound up in the coils of a breaking-up of long-stagnant circumstances. While this upheaval may be rather surprising and revolutionary, it should culminate in benefits of a sound and substantial nature. Despite all, the fortunes should be stabilized, and there should be an increase of possessions.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of sudden upheaval, with much drastic action and far-reaching effect in relation to the undermining of congestions or long-frustrating circumstances.

A child born on this day may have a practical and responsible character, with sound judgment and integrity, although it may be restless, nervous and probably erratic. It may be determined, critical, positive, tenacious and hard to dislodge from its set plans and ways.

In making a meringue for lemon pie, when it is all ready to put on, stir in two tablespoons of boiling water and meringue will not run. To each egg white use two heaping tablespoons of granulated sugar, one of boiling water and one-half a teaspoon of vanilla.

Test custards with a silver knife, If knife, when it comes out of center of custard is dry, custard is done.

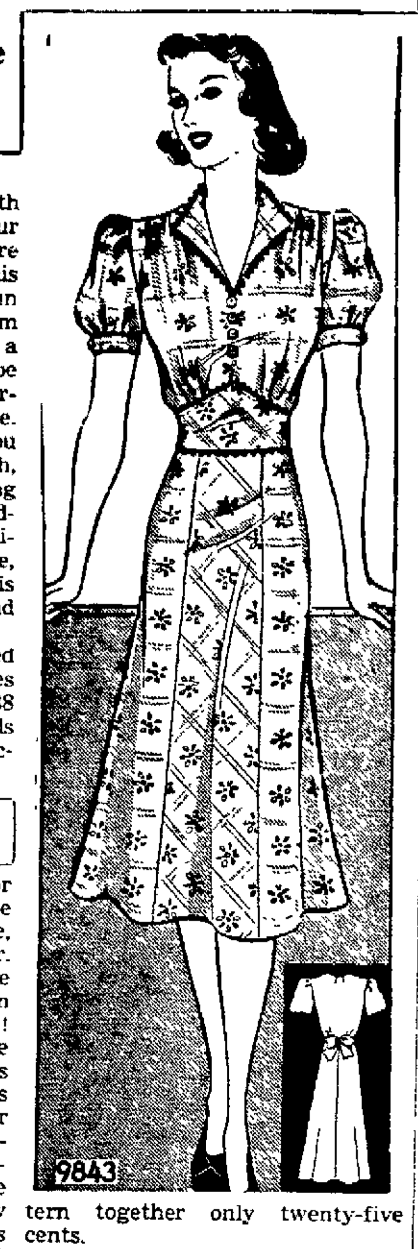
Ric-Rac Braid, Girdle Type Waistline Add Verve to Frock.

By MARIAN MARTIN

Be-deck your at-home frock with dressy ric-rac braid, girdle your waistline smartly and puff or flare your sleeve. If you'd be chic this Fall, Pattern 9843 has more than its share of dash and young charm—indeed, if you're a bride with a house to keep in order, you'll be tempted to make up several versions to delight Hubby's fond eye. By way of varying the design, you might cut the girdle section, sash, and skirt panel bias—and by using a plaid or stripe achieve a decidedly decorative effect with the minimum of effort. Bright percale, voile, or tie silk are lovely in this style, and cute revers, cuffs and buttons may be contrasting!

Pattern 9843 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards 36 inch fabric and 2⅝ yards ric-rac.



BE SURE TO STATE SIZE

Send fifteen cents in coins for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and style number.

Solve your autumn wardrobe problems with the new Marian Martin pattern book of fall styles! Its attractive, colorful pages give you the best of the new season's mode. School and playtime frocks for youngsters, special designs for larger women, campus and dress-up clothes for the junior deb—pages of sport clothes, at-home frocks, lingerie and gifts—all new and clever designs that are chic as well as practical. Don't delay, send for your copy at once! Price of book fifteen cents. Price of pattern fifteen cents. Book and pattern together only twenty-five cents.

The bidding on this deal began with South, who called 1-No Trump. After a 2-Diamond response by North, South took the contract to 3-No Trumps.

When the heart Q was led, South allowed the trick to hold. West continued with the heart J and declarer won with the K. He next played the diamond J, which lost to East's K. The heart return drove out South's last control in that suit. After cashing four diamonds, declarer now attempted to drive out the club A and when West took the trick he cashed two more hearts, setting South one trict.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

THE QUALITY that redeems my mother-in-law's often difficult attitude—her son calls it her "cussedness— is her sense of justice. I have known her completely to reverse herself in a discussion when she realized that her attitude toward it was an unjust one.

I was not surprised, therefore, when after her first angry reaction at having me question any diatribe of hers, to hear her say decisively.

"Yes, I was wrong there. I know how close Mrs. Bickett is to you I should not have spoken of her in the way I did. I trust you will overlook it."

"Of course, Mother," I said with prompt eagerness, but she held up her hand in majestic protest against any further speech from me until she should request it.

"That makes no possible difference, however, in my contention," she went on. "With my own ears—I was not mistaken—I heard Mrs. Bickett call her Royal Highness, 'Olga!' Just imagine it! What must the queen have thought of such freedom of speech?"

No Reply Desired.

I knew that the question was purely rhetorical, and that my mother-in-law desired no answer, indeed, would have resented one if I had ventured a reply. And after a slight pause, she swept on.

"These royal women are our guests," she said, "and the misfortune of their banishment should call forth every generous impulse within us. If we omit the forms of address to which they are accustomed, it is as if we said to them. 'You have lost everything, and the sooner you forget about your titles and your former station, the better for you.' It is just as if you gave them a slap in the face."

hSe paused again, and I shot a surreptitious glance at Lillian with an appeal for help in it. She lowered one eyelid infinitesimally in a wink, and I felt subtly heartened for the coming argument.

"You are the only one who can deal with this situation, Margaret" she said, fixing me with a determined gaze. "You must speak to Mrs. Bickett at once, and see that she pays due respect to Queen Olga while she is here."

This time she expected an answer. Her eyes told me that impressively, and I braced myself for the blast of her displeasure, which I knew would follow my reply.

"But you see, Mother," I said trying to make my voice brave, and succeeding but indifferently. "Queen Olga herself asked Katherine to call her by her given name. I heard her do it."

For an instant my mother-in law was plainly staggered. Then she rallied valiantly.

"What difference does that make?" she demanded. "I can see how the queen, grateful for the boon of sanctuary, and comfortable in Mrs. Bickett's care—nobody denies her unusual skill—could make such a request, but I cannot understand your cousin's acceding to it. She must have known that it was just an empty courtesy."

Lillian Enters Fray.

Something in our faces must have told her keen brain something, for she suddenly leaned forward and put another question.

"Did you put that same request to both of you? I can see she did by the look on your faces. But surely you did not follow Mrs. Bickett's example."

Before I could speak, Lillian jumped into the arena and seized the situation "by both horns."

"No, she followed ours," she said, smiling.

My mother-in-law's jaw dropped in irate astonishment.

"Do you mean to tell me," she demanded, "that you have called her 'Olga' also?"

"Yes," Lillian replied, "at the queen's insistent request, we both have done that little thing."

Coleuses may be easily grown from cuttings. It is only necessary to insert these cuttings in light soil in pots or even in a corner of the garden, keeping them fairly moist. They will make plants large enough to handle by the time cold weather comes. Even small plants can be cut back and taken into the house in fall, but new plants are better.

THEATER

THE preview in Hollywood of "Spawn of the North" brought out Dorothy Lamour, with police escort, although she lost her appendix only two weeks before. She didn't want to miss the first picture in which she appeared with all of her clothes on. George Raft, a stellar player in the picture, is under suspension by Paramount. . . . The Three Lane sisters are going to New York for the opening of "Four Daughters," but each will take a different route, Priscilla going by way of Minneapolis, Lola taking the middle route, and Rosemary taking the southern route, all by train. Why the different routes? The better to get publicity, my dear. There'll be three times as many press clippings. . . . Heddy Lamarr, who made her American debut in "Algiers," is being panned unmercifully by critics who bewail her lack of ability and talent. . .

Ameche and Whalen.

Twentieth Century-Fox's miracle child, Arleen Whelan, and Don Ameche, backed by an impressive cast, bring the pictured story of "Gateway" to the Madison screen for two days starting tomorrow. It's a story of the most dramatic spot in the world, Ellis Island, the portal of hopes and dreams for millions of foreigners. It's here that a returning newspaper correspondent meets the girl who is a second class cabin passenger; and here too, come the bombastic Prince (Gregory Ratoff) and the much married and still susceptible Binnie Barnes. Others in the cast are Gilbert Roland, Raymond Walburn, John Carradine, Harry Carey, Marjorie Gateson, Lyle Talbot and Warner Hymer. Most of the action takes place at America's gateway. It's one of the few pictures in which Ameche wins the girl.

Life-time Work.

Six hundred popular song hits, written over a period of about 30 years and selling more than six million copies, represents Irving Berlin's life work. He began with several unremembered compositions and then, in 1911 wrote his first hit song, "Alexander's Ragtime Band." It was a milestone in American music and was literally "heard round the world." It brought him an invitation to appear in a London theater and there he wrote his second hit, "International Rag." While a fictional romance carries along the action of the picture "Alexander's Ragtime Band," it is Berlin's song hits that give the picture its unusual musical background. The songs are sung by Alice Faye, Ethel Merman and Jack Haley, while Tyrone Power's band plays many of the famous Berlin airs. Don Ameche rounds out a stellar cast in this Ohio theater offering.

Roaring Romance.

Romance, stirring action and spectacular settings mark M-G-M's picture of some months ago which brings Warner Baxter and Ann Loring to the Majestic screen. "Robin Hood of El Dorado" is the roaring romance of road agent in the early days of the southwest; a handsome badman who stole from the rich to give to the poor. Such names as Murphy's Diggings, Angel's Camp, Sawmill Flats and other settlements that are a part of the history of those days come to life again in "El Dorado." It is based on the life of Murietta, a real character, who is still one of the most romantic figures in the history of the southwest The other feature is "Passport Husband" with Stuart Erwin and Pauline Moore.

Women's Plays.

Two picture dramas revolving around the central character of a woman will be offered on the Ritz program tomorrow and Thursday. One is "Stella Dallas," the moving and dramatic story of a mother love that sacrificed everything for a child's future, even to effacing herself, and other is "First Lady," the smart Washington society drama in which Kay Francis has the role that was created on Broadway by Jane Cowl. Barbara Stanwyck has the title role in Stella Dallas." with John Boles, Anne Shirley and Barbara O'Neill in the major supporting roles. Preston Foster, Anita Louise and Walter Connolly play the roles of the Washington characters in "First Lady."

...AND IT COSTS ONLY

$38.56 a Month

with today's low-cost, long-term financing

This is typical of the value obtainable in the $5,000 house today

"JOHN, AFTER LOOKING AT NEW HOUSES TODAY, AND HEARING ALL ABOUT THE LATEST WAY TO FINANCE, I'M SURE IT'S WISER TO OWN OUR HOME THAN TO RENT"

—why not own your own home—and pay rent to yourself? Your money will buy 25% to 40% more home today than in 1926!

"LOW-COST FINANCING?" "Just what does that mean?" you ask.

Simply that you can get your bank, or other local financing agencies, to advance the money (up to 90% of the value of the house and lot) for your new house with a smaller down payment, and at a lower interest rate, than ever before in history. And at a cost that in many cases is as much as 85% less than former financing costs.

And what does "long-term financing" mean? Simply that you can take a long time to pay for your house (from 20 to 25 years)—that the monthly payments are small and are paid just like rent. And, best of all, there is only one mortgage, a mortgage that never has to be renewed or transferred; one that can be foreclosed only if you fail to meet your monthly payments.

"All right," you say, "suppose we do borrow this money that's so easy to get—and start paying rent to ourselves instead of to the landlord—is this a good time to build or buy?"

Your answer is in the proved statement above —"Your money will buy 25% to 40% more home today than in 1926"—because of the 16 "extras" listed at the right—and because of such facts as these . . .

Your house will be better designed. Great strides have been made by the better architects and builders of the country in designing homes to eliminate waste space and to make them more attractive.

Your house will be better built. It must pass Federal Housing Administration inspection for quality specifications, sound principles of construction.

Your house will be more comfortable. Insulation, improved heating plants, air conditioning have given the modern house comfort that was never dreamed of ten years ago.

Your house will be more economical. Many materials have been developed which have eliminated items of expensive upkeep that were looked upon as a necessary evil of home ownership just a few years ago.

Your house will be more efficient. It will have better kitchen planning, new and improved labor-saving devices, streamlined, built-in fixtures that remove the word drudgery from housekeeping—better room arrangement eliminates many of the errors of construction that meant added burdens to the housewife.

Your house will be safer. Fire-resistant insulation and building materials, healthier atmospheric conditions, all help minimize the hazards of the past . . . and with all this—

Your house will be far easier to finance. There never was a time when it was so easy to FINANCE a home. Long-term, low-cost Federal Housing Administration financing makes it possible to pay for a new home out of a modest-size income, with low monthly payments like rent, on a plan that gives you full ownership of the house in 20 years—and at a cost that in many cases is as much as 85% less than former financing costs.

Shifts Inquiry to Fascist, Nazi Operations in U. S.

DIES PROBERS TO START NEW QUIZ IN N. Y.

Sub-Committee to Investigate Charges, Report Back for December Hearing.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The house committee investigating un-American activities decided today to split into three groups and shift its inquiry from Communism to Fascist and Nazi organizations.

Chairman Dies (D-Tex) announced that public hearings would be recessed after today's session. He said a subcommittee of four headed by Rep. Starns (D-Ala) would go to New York for a preliminary examination of material gathered for the new phase of the inquiry.

The Starnes group will begin hearings in about a week, and expects to complete its work seven or eight days later. Representatives Dempsey (D-NM) Healy (D-Mass) and Thomas (R-NJ) will accompany Starns.

Resume In December.

Dies said the committee intended to "give as much time and attention to the Fascists and Nazis as we gave to the Communists." He added that hearings probably would not be resumed in Washington until December.

Dempsey, Starnes and Mosier (D-Ohio) will form a sub-committee to work on the west coast, and Mosier, Dies and Mason (D-Ill) will conduct a midwestern inquiry.

The full committee heard testimony yesterday from Dr. J. B. Matthews, a former leader in Communistic activities. He declared American Communists were seeking to grasp power by bringing about an economic collapse and then would "slaughter reactionary property holders and idealistic believers in democracy and civil liberties."

Matthews said he slowly became disillusioned after years of work for the Communists. He termed their social theory "the most complete illusion ever born in the human brain."

He mentioned one probable phase to be studied by the committee's west coast group when he declared:

"Almost everybody in Hollywood has been signed up for one of these united front (Communist) organizations except Mickey Mouse and Snow White."

Matthews said thousands of prominent Americans had aided Communist cause by permitting use of their names for propaganda purposes by various associations. Many persons did not recognize the intent behind the united front organizations, he explained.

Mansfielders to Be Guests as N. Y. Job Drive Opens

Two Mansfield men will be guests of honor next week at a luncheon at the Hotel Commodore, New York City, which will be given by the Electrical and Gas association of New York, when that organization opens its "Jobs for Men" campaign which is similar to the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade.

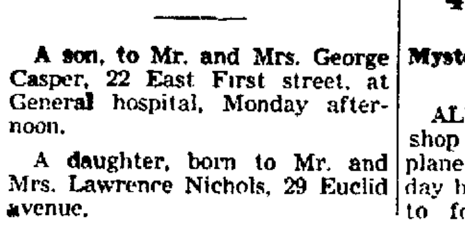
Mayor Claude M. Hunter and A. E. Allen, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, will be guests of honor and will bring Mansfield's greeting to the luncheon group. The luncheon will be held Wednesday, Aug. 31.

A member of the Electrical and Gas association is Consolidated Edison company of New York, Inc., which recently placed an order for 25,000 electric irons with the Mansfield Westinghouse plant. Consolidated Edison will present the program at the luncheon meeting.

Other guests of honor at the luncheon include Jasper McLevy, mayor of Bridgeport, Conn., S. Davis Wilson, mayor of Philadelphia, Congressman Bruce Barton, and officials of electric companies that are members of the association.

RAIL OFFICIAL DIES

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Francis W. Conner, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Pennsylvania railroad, died in the Allegheny General hospital, Pittsburgh, last night. He was 61.



A son, to Mr. and Mrs. George Casper, 22 East First street, at General hospital, Monday afternoon.

A daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Nichols, 29 Euclid avenue.

Up and Down THE STREET

Don't be surprised in the near future if you hear of a plan by one of the local garden clubs to sponsor the erection of a new Appleseed monument — a tall granite shaft to be located at the entrance of South park — as a tribute to the early orchardist by the present generation.

H. S. (Tubby) Jones has a good reason to suspect that he is the victim of a conspiracy. The Mansfield architect made a sensational finish in a tournament golf match at Westbrook last week, winning on the 19th hole after being four down going to the 15th tee. But instead of reading of his phenomenal comeback in the paper the next day, he was surprised to see his opponent, R. E. Burns, credited with the victory. But, Tubby, it was no conspiracy. The result was merely reported to us incorrectly.

Being "nursemaid" for two orphan terrier puppies is no easy task, Mrs. Clifford Heaton, 171 Vennum avenue, has discovered. When the puppies' mother was killed by an automobile, Mrs. Heaton took over the duties of feeding them from a bottle and attempting to console them. But they whine so much, she says, that she's not sure whether they are getting too much to eat, or too little, or are just plain lonesome. The mother dog, who was eager to protect her offspring, lost her life while chasing a boy on a bicycle who rode too close to the puppies.

Three Mansfield Sea Scouts went for a sail—and ended up by walking the soles off their shoes. The trio, made up of Edward Kinkle, Bert Skelly and Grant Clark, hitch-hiked to Sandusky Sunday to sail their home-made craft which was anchored there. They sailed to Marblehead but there was no breeze to bring them back and they took turns paddling with one paddle. It was quite late when they docked but they managed to thumb a ride to Fitchville. There, however, the patron saint of hitch-hikers (if there is one), deserted them and after waiting until 1:30 a. m., they started to walk back—and walk they did, every step of the 21 miles, arriving home in time for Monday morning breakfast.

DRIVERS FINED

One Pleads Guilty and Court Convicts Second.

Two motorists found guilty in municipal court today on charges of violating the traffic code were fined a total of $35 and costs. One lost his driving rights for six months.

Roland Wild, Cleveland, pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle with license plates issued for another was fined $50 and costs. Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch suspended $25 of the fine.

Convicted on a charge of careless and reckless driving, John Czernewski, 22 Cedar street, was fined $10 and costs and his operators permit suspended for six months.

Czernewski was arrested yesterday on a warrant signed by Jack Steltz, R. D. 3, Mansfield. Steltz testified that Czernewski operated his car on the left side of the highway on route 545 Saturday night and caused a collision in which his car was damaged.

Wild was arrested by Corporal J. E. Ruch, of the state highway patrol on U. S. route 42, north of Mansfield last night.

DIES AT AGE 70

Mrs. Amanda Leedy, Ankenytown, Stricken in Mt. Vernon.

ANKENYTOWN—Mrs. Amanda Bechtel Leedy, 70, died in the Mt. Vernon hospital today after a brief illness. Surviving are three sons, Floyd and Elva of Fredericktown and Orville of Portsmouth; a daughter, Mrs. Earl Wineland of Butler, and seven grandchildren.

The body was removed to the George funeral home, Butler, where it will remain until the services to be held in the Ankenytown Church of the Brethren at 2 p. m. Thursday. Burial will be in Ankenytown.

4TH ARRESTED IN MUTILATION

New Suspect Held Following Arrest of Doctor Accused by Ex-U. S. Officer.

(By Associated Press)

OLYMPIA, Wash.—Prosecutor Smith Troy announced today officers had rounded up all four night raiders accused of the revenge abduction and attempted mutilation of Irving Baker, former coast guard officer.

The fourth man taken into custody, Troy said, was Robert Smith, 32, arrested early today at his farm home at Brady, 20 miles west of Olympia.

Smith admitted he participated in the kidnaping and assault, under "altogether different circumstances" than the others involved, the prosecutor reported, and promised a complete statement later.

Previously jailed on kidnaping and assault charges were Dr. K. W. Berry, 54-year-old Olympia physician; James Reddick, 27, taxi driver, and William K. McAloon, former night marshal at Montesano, Wash.

Taken from his home by two armed men posing as officers, Baker was driven to a lonely spot Friday night and beaten. An unsuccessful attempt was made to emasculate him.

Prosecutor Troy accused Dr. Berry of organizing the kidnaping because of a reputed "affair" between Baker and Mrs. Berry. Baker, recovering, denied he was intimate with the doctor's wife.

DAVEY'S FIRM MISSES SALE TO CITY BECAUSE OF TECHNICALITY

The Davey Compressor company, Inc., of Kent, headed by Gov. Martin L. Davey, today had missed making a sale to the city of Mansfield because its low bid on a mobile air compressor was accompanied by a check drawn on an out of town bank instead of a Mansfield bank as called for in the specifications.

The firm will have another opportunity to bid on the equipment however, because all bids were ruled out by the board of control yesterday.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist announced that new bids would be accepted at the office of the board until noon Sept. 8, on the machine to be used in connection with the Woodland water improvement job.

Specifications call for the delivery of a mobile unit mounted on wheels with rubber tires and having a capacity capable of driving two air hammers.

Nist said that all bids were ruled out when it was found that the proposal submitted by the Davey company, was $400 under the next lowest bid which was accompanied by a check on a Mansfield bank. He explained that the board considered the difference in the price too great to overlook.

The bid submitted by the governor's firm quoted a price of $1,400 but had enclosed a check on a Kent bank. The city advertised that "each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check in the sum of $50 on a solvent bank in the city of Mansfield."

The policy of the board in the past has been to rule out bids when checks are drawn on out of town banks and award the contract to the next best bidder, Nist said.

Another bid thrown out because the check was drawn on an out of town bank was that of the Charles M. Ingersoll company, Rocky River, whose price on the machine was $1,822.

Other bids submitted were the G. L. Rogers company, Mansfield, $1,791; Hughes Supply company, Mansfield, $1,910; Lorentz-Wheeler company, Columbus, $1,970; Automotive Supply company, Mansfield, $1,955, and a bid of $1,651, submitted by the Hercules Steel Products company, Galion, on a machine formerly used as a demonstrator.

PLAN WIND-UP

Special Program Arranged for Last Playground Day.

A picnic and play day program at two city parks Friday will bring to a close activities at Mansfield playgrounds for the summer, Al Fendrick, playground director, announced today.

The 12 grounds will be divided into two divisions, one group meeting at North Lake park, and the other at Liberty park. Children from Temple Court, Brinkerhoff, Carpenter, Prospect park, South park, and North Lake park will meet at that park, while children from Johns park, Garden Acres, Bushnell, Madison, Hedges and Liberty park grounds will meet at Liberty grounds.

The children will spend the day in swimming, and playing tennis, kittenball and other recreational games, with a picnic dinner at noon.

At North Lake park the program will be in charge of John Chatlain, assisted by supervisors in that area, and the Liberty park program will be in charge of six supervisors headed by Miss Lois Baughman.

YOUNG DRIVER ON PROBATION

Pleads Guilty to Two Charges Before Probate Judge.

A 17-year-old Mansfield youth who pleaded guilty before Probate Judge C. J. Anderson yesterday to charges and reckless driving and driving without an operator's license, was placed on probation for one month.

The youth, who was arrested by Patrolman Clare Kyler, was ordered to report each week to Ralph Carroll, county probation officer, and to refrain from driving until he obtains an operator's permit.

Kyler said the youth was driving a truck 60 miles an hour on Sturges avenue.

SEVERE TREMORS CAUSE SCARE IN THREE STATES

Hundreds Shaken From Beds, Flood Police, Firemen With Anxious Inquiries.

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — Apparently centered in the Delaware river valley, a series of five earthquakes rocked the city and adjacent New Jersey, Delaware and eastern Pennsylvania last night and early today in one of the strangest disturbances on record here.

Thousands of residents throughout the area, some of them shaken from their beds, flooded police and fire stations and other emergency centers with anxious queries after the first and succeeding shocks.

In Philadelphia, homes shook, pictures were knocked from the walls and dishes were broken by the first tremor, two minutes in duration. Newspaper offices, police and fire headquarters immediately were jammed with telephone calls.

Finds Archway Safe.

Following the succeeding shocks Mayor S. Davis Wilson rushed to city hall at 2 a. m. and ordered an immediate inspection of a 40-ton piece of granite recently placed over a pedestrian archway to replace a similar stone found resting precariously on weakened supports. The new block was found securely in place. Extra firemen and police were called to duty.

The first shock, registered on the seismograph at Franklin Institute at 11:41 p. m. last night, was followed by tremors at 1:08, 1:12, 3:58 and 4:05 a. m. this morning.

Dr. James Stokley, director of the Fels planetarium at Franklin Institute, calculated the quake centered about 140 miles from Philadelphia. Reports received from Fordham university place the epicenter of the disturbance in Bucks county, Pa.

Bucks and northern Montgomery counties in Pennsylvania, Camden and Mercer counties in New Jersey, West Trenton and Freehold, N. J., and Wilmington, Del., were among areas reporting the most severe demonstrations.

TAKES STUMP

West to Campaign in Ohio for Sawyer, Bulkley.

Charles West, of Granville, former congressman from the 17th district which includes Mansfield, is back in the political picture after a conference with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, dispatches reported today.

He announced that he will come into Ohio and campaign for Senator Robert J. Bulkley who is a candidate for re-election on a 100 per cent New Deal platform, and for Charles Sawyer, Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio.

After a conference with the president, West said today: "We've got a fight on our hands, but I think we'll win."

West was personal contact man for the president while holding a position as under secretary in the department of the interior at a salary of $10,000, until his immediate superior, Secretary Ickes ousted him from the office early this year.

FOUR NAMED AS V.F.W. DELEGATES

Will Represent Mansfield Post at Convention This Week.

Delegates to the national convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars which is being held in Columbus this week, were named by the Alfred I. Harrington post last night at its regular meeting in Memorial building.

Those who will officially represent the Mansfield veterans are Vernon G. Castor, C. C. Flood, Glen W. Kaylor and R. B. Gardner.

A number of veterans from the post are expected to attend various sessions. Among those who will go to Columbus for the drum corps contest Wednesday are Sam V. Fox, Hollis Moorhead and Archie Fisher, commander of the Mansfield post.

PAYS OLD BILL

Ross County Sends Richland $153 In Payment Of Relief Debt.

Richland county commissioners yesterday received a check for $153 from Ross county in payment of a relief bill which commissioners and the prosecutor's office had attempted to collect for more than a year.

The amount represented the cost of an operation for a non-resident of Richland county who came here from Chillicothe, commissioners said. The bill was paid by Richland county, and an attempt was started immediately to collect from Ross county commissioners who protested at the time.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Never Trust Cross-Hand Piano Players, Make 'Em Always Play It Straight

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—A man called up and said he had some tickets for Jose Iturbi, the piano player, and I asked, "Does he do it cross-handed?"

"Does he do it cros-handed?" he said. "Brother, he does it cross-handed, back-handed, blindfolded, anything you wish. Why?"

So I said I would pass it up because—

Well, one time they were having a terrible winter in Florida. No chumps, no fix, plenty of prohibition trouble and the boats were sailing right on past Miami for Cuba. You could see their lights in the night off-shore.

That winter my friend, Mr. Cutey Pearce, had a nice little plant where he was prepared to deal a high-class line of wines, liquors and cigars, rare viands and exotic delicacies, and he would sit there night after lonely night, eating cream cheese and Worcestershire sauce and sniffing beer out of the safe, and snarling at those boats going by.

This terrible winter, Mr. Pearce had in his plant one of those personal service pianists with a little portable, horse-face piano about the size of a laundry hamper.

The gag was to measure the house and pick a table where some devil was tearing up money for fun, then roll the little box over in the lee of that table and start singing request numbers for the members of the fair sex.

This would flatter the chump who was lifting the weight for the party and he would order more wine if he was any gentleman, in appreciation of this compliment to his pick.

Well, things were just awful, but one night, what do you know, in pops a live one, a little bald guy, with a great, big, blue-eyed baby, built like a wrestler and full of high spirits and the mood of dolce far niente. Some like them big. It's a free country. There were about eight in the party, but the little bald guy was the papa. You could see that.

The gentleman ordered wine, which wasn't free, but $25 a crock at that time, and Mr. Pearce cracked his hands for that piano mug, but that one had already thrown down his racing form and was bearing down on the table like a taxicab, clouting those keys on the wing.

He pulled up alongside with the fancy flourish of a U. S. destroyer and began to bear down on the love angle and the big blond began to roll her eyes and squeeze the little bald guy's hand. It looked like the rent, all right.

But pretty soon the piano guy began to play cross-handed. He would sing about love and lean toward the big blond like he was going to put his head on her chest, and then cross his hands on that keyboard, first the right one over the left, then the left over the right in sweeping, graceful strokes and plink the piano cute licks each time.

And pretty soon the big blond let loose of the little bald guy's hand and put her elbows on the table and her chin on her hands and started heaving and giving that great, big, blue-eyed business to the piano mug, who didn't have a dime.

This lasted about 10 minutes, until suddenly the little bald guy jumped up, measured the big blond and busted her a beauty, right on one of her pretty blue eyes. There was a teribile scuffle at that, and after Mr. Pearce had regretfully given the whole party a heave into the evening he came back and fired the pianist.

"Never," Mr. Pearce said to me, "never trust a cross-handed piano player. Make them play it straight, because the minute they begin that cross-handed business they are up to something."

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The life of a portrait painter in Startown must be tough.

Azadia Newman wouldn't say so. Azadia would—and did—say quite the opposite. And I doubt if any portrait painter in Startown would come out and say it baldly. Unless it might be Willy Pogany, who took his tinted tiff with Connie Bennett to court and got the worst of it. But I haven't seen Willy Pogany lately, and I've just seen Azadia Newman, who is a lovely creature to see.

Azadia lives on a hillside and you park below and hike up umpteen steps. I reckon if you're the athletic type—like Scott Colton, Azadia's handsome new husband—those steps are no trick. But if typing is your violent exercise then you're in no mood for Art after the climb. Still, between gasps and pants, I made some notes on the informal exhibit in Azadia's studio.

So when Azadia came in—slender, fine-featured, titian-haired—I was already impressed. Her fine and beautiful portrait of the blind Senator Gore is something to see and see again. I liked her John Nance Garner and her Walter Huston and her Norma Winder and many others. And I decided (just as if I knew about capital-A Art) that here was a girl who knew character and could paint it.

I EVEN liked her Gladys Swarthout. And I could see that her Joan Crawford had its points. But the Carole Lombard—it's very pretty. I said so. "Pretty," I said.

"You mean you don't like it?" asked Azadia.

"I mean I don't think it's Lombard," said the Expert-for-a-Day, who thinks Lombard is tops as is and doesn't need prettifying.

So we two went 'round and 'round from there. Friendly, understand, and right merrily. Azadia has a sense of humor. She appreciates Expert Criticism from one who can't paint even with a spray gun.

"On movie queens generally—leaving out Lombard, Crawford, Swarthout—don't you think the artist tends to paint them as they'd like to be painted? As their studios would like them to be painted?" This was the Expert pursuing his theme, doggedly.

Azadia wouldn't budge an inch. "I love doing movie stars," she said. "They're grand subjects. Besides, I'm a movie fan so I've loved getting to know them as I do when they sit for me. And I paint them as I see them."

Well, we didn't get anywhere but it was fun. I still think the life of a portrait painter in Startown must be tough. I'll have to ask Willy Pogany about it.

THEN Azadia brought in her Arleen Whelan. Azadia discovered Arleen before the movies did. Arleen was a hairdresser then, and Azadia painted her because she wanted to paint that piquant face, that rich auburn hair. Azadia picked out Arleen for movie starring long ago, just as a lot of us have been thinking Azadia ought to be in pictures herself.

Azadia may be too, before long. She's going to take a test.

"But I'd do pictures only if they wouldn't interfere with my painting," she said. "It must come first."

And she means that. She couldn't have done that Gore, that Garner, that Huston and those others if she didn't.

...AND IT COSTS ONLY

$38.56 a Month

with today's low-cost, long-term financing

This is typical of the value obtainable in the $5,000 house today

"JOHN, AFTER LOOKING AT NEW HOUSES TODAY, AND HEARING ALL ABOUT THE LATEST WAY TO FINANCE, I'M SURE IT'S WISER TO OWN OUR HOME THAN TO RENT"

—why not own your own home—and pay rent to yourself? Your money will buy 25% to 40% more home today than in 1926!

"LOW-COST FINANCING?" "Just what does that mean?" you ask.

Simply that you can get your bank,. or other local financing agencies, to advance the money (up to 90% of the value of the house and lot) for your new house with a smaller down payment, and at a lower interest rate, than ever before in history. And at a cost that in many cases is as much as 85% less than former financing costs.

And what does "long-term financing" mean? Simply that you can take a long time to pay for your house (from 20 to 25 years)—that the monthly payments are small and are paid just like rent. And, best of all, there is only one mortgage, a mortgage that never has to be renewed or transferred; one that can be foreclosed only if you fail to meet your monthly payments.

"All right," you say, "suppose we do borrow this money that's so easy to get—and start paying rent to ourselves instead of to the landlord—is this a good time to build or buy?"

Your answer is in the proved statement above —"Your money will buy 25% to 40% more home today than in 1926"—because of the 16 "extras" listed at the right—and because of such facts as these . . .

Your house will be better designed. Great strides have been made by the better architects and builders of the country in designing homes to eliminate waste space and to make them more attractive.

Your house will be better built. It must pass Federal Housing Administration inspection for quality specifications, sound principles of construction.

Your house will be more comfortable. Insulation, improved heating plants, air conditioning have given the modern house comfort that was never dreamed of ten years ago.

Your house will be more economical. Many materials have been developed which have eliminated items of expensive upkeep that were looked upon as a necessary evil of home ownership just a few years ago.

Your house will be more efficient. It will have better kitchen planning, new and improved labor-saving devices, streamlined, built-in fixtures that remove the word drudgery from housekeeping—better room arrangement eliminates many of the errors of construction that meant added burdens to the housewife.

Your house will be safer. Fire-resistant insulation and building materials, healthier atmospheric conditions, all help minimize the hazards of the past . . . and with all this—

Your house will be far easier to finance. There never was a time when it was so easy to FINANCE a home. Long-term, low-cost Federal Housing Administration financing makes it possible to pay for a new home out of a modest-size income, with low monthly payments like rent, on a plan that gives you full ownership of the house in 20 years—and at a cost that in many cases is as much as 85% less than former financing costs.
